COUNTY WILL STUDY PAY OF COLLECTORS

The Adams County commissioners have joined school boards in considering whether the percentage paid tax collectors should be lowered.

The county and institution district pay the collectors three per cent on all taxes until the penalty is imposed and five per cent thereafter.

Today the commissioners said at their meeting in the court house that they are making a study of the question to determine whether the percentage should be cut to effect a saving in the cost of operating the county.

PLAN NIGHT LIGHTS

One of the problems that has to be considered in making a cut is whether the decrease would still provide the tax collector with sufficient income to warrant his seeking the office and performing those duties. Poor tax collectors could cause loss of more money than could be gained by too great a cut in percentages, it was noted.

Annual increases in the amount of income of the tax collector, an increase which is expected to continue each year during the coming four years, has led to the decision to study the possibility of lowering the rate. This year all tax collectors are up for election and new rates, if any, must be set quickly if they are to be applicable for the next four years.

The commissioners this morning voted to keep night lights burning for protection of the courthouse property starting tonight, at the rear of the main hall of the courthouse, on the Middle St. side of the court house and at the back

GIRLS' SCHOOL HERE IN 1846, MEETING TOPIC

The Gettysburg Female Seminary that was operated here for a number of years in the 1840's and then was suspended for various reasons, among them the uncertainty of local support, was the subject of the program presented at the February meeting of the Adams County Historical Society Tuesday evening at the courthouse.

The program was given by Prof. William C. Darrah, member of the faculty of Gettysburg College and program chairman for the historical society, who said he is gathering material on Herman Haupt with the hope that he may some day write a biography of that Civil War engineer, professor and army general who operated the female seminary that was the Tuesday night topic.

Using a promotional pamphlet issued by the seminary in 1846 as his source, Prof. Darrah described the "puritanical and almost tyrannical" policies of the school's administration which blasted the usual training for young ladies of that day as "superficial" and often devoted to "ornamental knowledge."

IN HAMME HOME

Prof. Haupt, who had graduated from West Point at 18 and was a member of the Gettysburg College faculty, sought to offer a "superior education" for girls and young ladies at annual fees of $100 with tuition ranging from $8 to $30 depending upon the courses taken.

Enrollment never went above 40 and the uncertainty of patronage from local girls led to the effort in 1846 to expand enrollment and facilities. The effort apparently failed and soon Haupt left Gettysburg to become chief

HOMEMAKERS PLAN PROGRAMS

The advisory committee of the Adams County Homemakers met Tuesday at the West St. bank to discuss programs for the year Mrs. Helen D. Tunison, extension home economist, reported.

Wesley Kriebel, program consultant, spoke briefly about the problems involving community planning. He said mobility of population, employment, population growth and family living must be considered when planning.

The leaders, in smaller groups, discussed how the home economist's program could better serve the homemakers. They will report March 28.

It was announced that April 26 will be Homemakers' Day with Miss Mercedes Hurst as the speaker.

The leaders were instructed by Mrs. Tunison to ask the groups if they wished to participate in the Civil War pageant next summer. The groups would make Civil War costumes as part of the project.

GIVES ADDRESS AT MEETING OF COLLEGE UNIT

"Afghanistan, land of the Afghans, is a remote, wild country, but very beautiful; with a history dating back 2,500 years," Mrs. Earl Bowen, who resided in Kabul, Afghanistan, for two years, said in her illustrated talk at the meeting of the Gettysburg Subleague of the Woman's League of Gettysburg College Tuesday afternoon in the Student Union Building.

"Although a remote and wild country, the people are very hospitable," she said. "Because of their inferiority to the men, women are not allowed to attend social functions. The veils the women wear are not of lightweight silk as one would expect, but are made of a heavy white cloth. Young girls must always wear long sleeves and all children wear long pants.

"Since there is no rain from May until November, it takes a long time to grow grass and have a flower garden. Most of the Afghans love flowers.

NOMADS PITCH TENTS

"It is not an uncommon sight to see tents on hillsides belonging to nomads. These tents, made of hides, are the only homes of these people. Camels are their main beast of burden, and many donkeys are also used as such. Another familiar sight is that of herds of goats and sheep being driven along the highways.

"All of the constructed homes are made of mud," Mrs. Bowen said. To illustrate what can be made out of mud, which was cut, heated and painted and made into tile, she showed a picture of a Moslem temple built in the 14th century. The designs made with the tiles were very elaborate and the temple was constructed with 460 domes, 444 pillars and six entrances. The interior was made of many stones and tiles. Pictures of the various markets were shown and Mrs. Bowen said that "all of the merchants selling the

The Biglerville High School senior was selected by the horticultural group Tuesday at its three-day annual meeting which ended today.

Other contestants were Kathleen Allen, 17, New Park, York County, and Joan Gehr, 18, Waynesboro R. 1.

At the same time the association's Ladies Auxiliary elected Mrs. Robert Herr, Lancaster R. 2, as its new president. Mrs. John Anderson, New Park, was selected as vice president and Mrs. Harry Kauffman, York R. 9, was named secretary.

"EMERGENCY" PARKING RULES IN FORCE HERE

Burgess Wilbur L. Plank today announced additional emergency parking and traffic regulations to continue until the snow has disappeared.

All parking is banned on the east side of N. Washington St. from Lincoln Ave. to Broadway.

Water St. has been made one way east from N. Washington St. to N. Stratton St.

Stevens St. had been made one way west from N. Stratton St. to N. Washington St.

All parking has been banned from W. High St. between S. Washington and West St. "until we can get the snow out of there."

One-way traffic on Breckenridge St. has been extended to Franklin St. and Breckenridge St. is now one way east from Franklin St. to Baltimore St.

The burgess said the emergency regulations will continue in effect "until we get out from under the snow."

Kennedy Said He Hopes U.S. Is "Secure" In Its Space Age DefensesAgainstReds'Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today he hopes the United States is "completely secure" in its space age defenses against Communist power—but at the moment he lacks a "clear answer" to whether there is a missile gap.

At a news conference the President backed away from the strongly critical position he had taken during the political campaigns last fall. He charged then that under Republican leadership the nation was falling behind in the missile race.

The fact is, he said, that studies he ordered in the Pentagon on the missile gap problem have not been completed and will not be for a few days. When they are finished—perhaps by Feb. 20 on some matters — he will recommend to Congress any changes needed in budget provisions for weapons programs.

"WON'T STRIKE FIRST"

In discussing the over-all American-Soviet power relationship the President said:

"The United States will not strike first."

He thus by implication ruled out any policy of what has been called preventive or pre-emptive war. He said the realization that the United States will not strike first is one of the important considerations in estimating the balance of missile forces.

Kennedy spoke guardedly on the issue in the midst of storm kicked up by a Defense Department briefing of newsmen Monday. The newsmen were advised that Kennedy administration officials had concluded tentatively as a result of the Kennedy-ordered study that there was no missile gap.

TALKED WITH McNAMARA

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, then sought to deny the reports. He said they were inaccurate because the studies leading to such a conclusion had not been finished.

Kennedy declared today he had talked about the problem Monday with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

"He stated," Kennedy said, "that no study had been concluded in the Defense Department which would lead to any conclusion whether there is a missile gap or not."

Kennedy was reminded of his missile gap charge during the campaign and was asked, in ef-

Truck Is Seized At Emmitsburg

A 22-year-old Brogueville, York County, man was to be arraigned in Baltimore today before U. S. Commissioner H. Allen Mezger on a charge brought by federal alcohol tax division agents from Baltimore after they took Ralph Lee Joines, Brogueville R. D., into custody at Emmitsburg Tuesday afternoon.

Joines, who had two juveniles with him, aged 15 and 13 years, was picked up by Maryland State Police two miles east of Emmitsburg and taken to Emmitsburg where they were held for the federal agents.

The truck, which was loaded with empty glass containers up to half gallon size, was impounded by the federal authorities. The juveniles were placed in the custody of their parents and Joines was held for today's arraignment.

He is being charged with possession of materials intended for use in defrauding the United States of lawful revenue.

SHERIFF SALE STAYED; CLAIM DEBT WAS PAID

A Hanover R. 5. couple is seeking in Adams County court to save themselves from "being sheriffed" over a debt for aluminum siding which they claim to have previously paid to a man now in the Allegheny County Workhouse on a charge of fraudulent conversion.

Claude F. and Genevieve Baker, Hanover R. 5, have asked the court to "open" a judgment and execution against them so they can defend themselves by proving they paid the debt for aluminum siding and windows to Theodore T. Blauvelt, 33, Lancaster.

The judgment, for $1,866.70, was brought against them by Reliance, Inc., of Lancaster.

Blauvelt was sentenced by the Adams County court last October 15 to from 11 to 23 months in the Allegheny County Workhouse on a fraudulent conversion charge. At that time the court said that, before Blauvelt could be paroled, he must make restitution of about $4,000. At the time Blauvelt was sentenced, two Adams Countians appeared to inform the court that Blauvelt accepted checks from them for aluminum siding work and then had converted the money to his own use rather than applying the amount against the money owed for the work.

The Bakers in their appeal to the court to halt the sheriff's levy against them presented copies of the contract for the work as signed by Blauvelt and their check which was cashed by Blauvelt at York.

The court set March 13 at 10 a.m. as the time for a hearing on the Bakers' defense against the judgment and meantime ordered a stay of the proceedings against them. Court records show the judgment against them to be

C. W. Achenbach Dies Suddenly

Cyrus William Achenbach, 54, Chambersburg, chief of the Franklin County Correctional Department, died Monday night at 9:45 at the Chambersburg Hospital. He was admitted to the hospital Monday morning after being stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage at his office in the courthouse annex.

In 1928, Mr. Achenbach joined the old State Highway Patrol, which, in 1938, merged with the State Police as the Pennsylvania State Police. He served in Gettysburg and Harrisburg in 1936. After serving two years in Chambersburg, he served at McConnellsburg, Lykens and Carlisle. He returned to Chambersburg in 1945 and remained here until his retirement in January, 1953.

GIRL SCOUTS' COUNCIL PLANS MARCH RALLY

The Adams County Girl Scout council, meeting Tuesday evening at the Scout office in the First National Bank building, extended the annual cookie sale until February 24 because of the weather, made plans for Girl Scout Week in March, listed preliminary figures in the annual finance compaign and heard reports on the annual Juliette Low rally March 18.

Sale of cookies is going fairly well, but with the weather preventing both distribution of cookies to many of the Scouts, and preventing them from making their distribution and collection, the council set a new date, February 24, for completion of the annual campaign. Proceeds from the cookie sale go to the fund for development of the Girl Scout camp near Fairfield.

At Tuesday's meeting Mrs. Arthur Phiel Jr., campaign chairman, announced as among plans for Camp Happy Valley the installation of shelves in the shelter and shower room, installation of an additional railing on the balcony, installation of a drain at the pump, purchase of hardware for the kitchen, varnishing and shellacking of the main building and purchase of pup tents and cots for use at the camp.

URGES DRIVE COMPLETION

Finance Chairman Clark Smith urged all communities to complete their annual drive for funds and reported $2,771.42 has been collected so far outside Gettysburg. Gettysburg gave $3,300 through Community Chest.

Amounts received in the drive include: Arendtsville, $219.83; Bendersville, $441.28; Bigler-

SAYS TIPS TO POLICE ARE VERY USEFUL

"The ordinary person on the street who will call and give us any kind of tip is a big help in our investigation of crime," Cpl. James Treas, of the local substation of the Pennsylvania State Police, told the Exchange Club at the weekly dinner meeting held in the Lamp Post Tea Room Tuesday evening.

"Too many times people see things that just don't look right to them," Treas went on, "but the person will not jot down a license number, remember what kind of car it was, who and what it was, or any significant details."

The corporal cited one example of a family who witnessed a crime and the three-year-old daughter was able to relate much more factual information than the parents.

60 PCT. OF CASES SOLVED

Treas said that many times people won't call in tips because they don't want to become involved in court proceedings. "I want to dispel that fear right now," he added. "Any information given to us will become confidential if the individual desires." Only in certain instances does the individual's name have to be revealed, he said.

There are very few large robberies in Adams County, Treas continued, "and for that reason people should be on the lookout for Peeping Toms and smaller burglaries." He said that most of the crimes committed in the county are by men aged 16 to 30. Usually when criminals fall beyond this age limit, Treas added, they have come from Maryland, western Pennsylvania, or from Philadelphia.

Treas said the crime situation

SCHOOL TAX COMMISSION IS REDUCED

Tax collectors in the Upper Adams Merged School district had their commissions for the next four years reduced by action of the school board at a meeting at Biglerville Monday evening. The collectors, who have been receiving a commission of three per cent for school taxes collected at discount and at par, will be paid only 2½ per cent in 1961 and the next three years.

The commission on taxes they collect during the penalty period will continue at five per cent as before.

The board also announced the resignation of Arnold E. Orner as a director from Arendtsville. He plans to move to Biglerville and although he will be residing in the same merged district will not be eligible to serve as the Arendtsville representative on the board. His position will be filled by an appointment.

It was announced that a ruling from the state Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg has directed the Upper Adams board to make an appointment to the merged board under provisions of changes made in the state school code on mergers under which the size of the merged board will increase from seven to nine.

President Oscar Rice Jr. presided at the meeting.

NEW RULES ON GARBAGE ARE RECOMMENDED

Only 65 per cent of the properties in Gettysburg are served by a garbage collector, according to the Environmental Sanitation Survey made of the borough by a team from the State Department of Health.

The report made by Sanitarian Jack S. Libby to borough council said "the remaining 35 per cent produce an approximately 1,100 tons of refuse a year which is disposed of on their property by burning, or along the highways by roadside dumping."

Among recommendations of the Department of Health team to the town were: "The present refuse ordinance should be changed to prohibit all types of backyard incineration; mandatory refuse collection should be required of all residents; all combustible material, such as paper, boxes and wood should be tied in bundles and stored in refuse containers; all refuse should be stored in ten to 32 gallon rust-resistant containers with tight fitting lids and two carrying handles; all refuse containers should be placed on elevated racks to protect the containers, prevent overturning and to facilitate cleaning of the area; garbage should be drained and wrapped before being placed in refuse containers."

RATS PREVALENT

The survey showed evidence of a prevalence of rats in the community. A rate lives one year and produces from four to seven litters of young per year, with each litter numbering eight to 12. "A very small amount of improperly stores garbage can provide

The winter's tenth snowfall began between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning and continued steadily into the afternoon choking traffic and closing schools throughout the county.

The State Highway Department that had its full snow removal organization in operation by dawn reported snow had reached a depth of 10 inches by noon today in some mountain areas.

With 49 inches of snow measured in earlier snows this winter, today's storm put Gettysburg within shooting distance of the all-time snow record of 62 inches set in the winter of 1917-1918.

The Gettysburg Times weather station measured 8½ inches early this afternoon bringing the winter's total here to 57½ inches.

SCHOOLS CLOSE

Fairfield schools did not open this morning when buses reported difficulties on the morning trips and a Freedom Twp. bus, bound for the Gettysburg schools, stalled in snow on a township road with its cargo of 35 to 40 youngsters before school this morning.

The State Highway Department received a call for aid from the stranded bus at 8:50 a.m. and dispatched snow plows. By 11:30 o'clock the bus had been returned to operation and turned immediately to carrying the children back to their homes without attempting to reach school. The bus had been stranded off the Pumping Station Rd., near the Lower Tract Rd.

Gettysburg public schools dismissed at 10:15 o'clock this morning after superintendent H. Edgar Riegle had conferred with the State Highway Department. The parochial school here closed at noon.

MUSIC FESTIVAL OFF

The Upper Adams schools closed this morning; New Oxford schools at 11:30 a.m.; York Springs schools at noon while Littlestown schools had closed down at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Plans for Thursday sessions remained uncertain.

During the morning announcement was made that the annual county band and choir festival, scheduled for this evening at 8 o'clock at the Gettysburg High School auditorium, was being postponed. More than 400 youngsters from all high schools of the county were to have participated.

ROADS HAZARDOUS

In some parts of the county snow began falling at 4 a.m. and the snowfall was general by 5 a.m. Shortly after that hour the first highway trucks with antiskid material were dispatched on state highways. Plowing began about 6 a.m. and soon afterwards the entire force of 33 trucks, seven graders "and a few bulldozers" was at work.

The snow piled up rapidly and many rural roads were reported closing under light drifting. Main roads were being kept open, but generally the going was heavy and road conditions were described as hazardous.

Borough employes started preparations for a new round of snow-loading and plowing in Gettysburg streets.

FIRE CHIEFS TO BANQUET AT MIDWAY

Judge W. C. Sheely and William Millar, New Oxford, will be the speakers at the annual ladies' night banquet of the Adams County Fire Chiefs Association Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the Midway fire hall.

Millar will deliver the principal address while Judge Sheely will speak briefly and install the new officers of the county fire chiefs association.

Clarence D. Deardorff, chaplain of the Adams County Firemen's Association, will offer the grace before the dinner. G. Henry Roth will be toastmaster.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Among those scheduled to be introduced will be the officers of the Adams County Volunteer Firemen's Association, headed by President Eugene Long, Bonneauville; Fire Marshal John Murren, Centennial; Civil Defense Director William G. Weaver, assistant CD Director Roger Myers, Fairfield; equipment specialist Hugh Hoke, radio specialist Richard Boone and fire equipment salesman Irvin Houck, Hanover.

Outgoing fire chiefs' President Francis I. Linn, Gettysburg, will speak briefly. The new officers to be installed by Judge Sheely will include President Frank Klunk, Midway; vice president, Charles Bretzman, Bendersville, and secretary-treasurer, Eugene Murren, McSherrystown.

Another Storm Blankets East; Close Many Schools

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A mountain of snow blanketed almost all the Eastern seaboard today and new storms closed hundreds of schools and brought traffic to a standstill.

Snowbound New York City looked forward to more snow or rain and freezing drizzle. Mayor Robert F. Wagner continued his ban on all nonessential private auto traffic after he made a helicopter tour of the snowbound city. The ban meant another day of crowding on public transportation facilities as hundreds of thousands of automobiles remained buried along streets and parkways in the city.

BREAK THROUGH HUDSON

With an ice breaker showing the way, 10 river craft started up the ice-choked Hudson River today to deliver more than 100,000 barrels of gasoline and heating oil for New York communities where shortages were reported. The bulk of the fuel was bound for Newburgh for distribution.

In Washington, D.C., the capital's snow-a-week schedule was right on time with a fall unofficially reported at 3 to 5 inches. Heavy snow warnings were out for northern and western Virginia and snow and sleet was spreading from North Carolina into southern Pennsylvania.

While Pennsylvania was attempting to dig out from last weekend's crippling snowfall of up to 24 inches, more snow lashed at the state. The Western part of the state bore the brunt of the new storm which dumped up to 4 inches of fresh snow there.

6 INCHES IN VIRGINIA

The eastern Panhandle of West Virginia got 6 inches of snow early today.

One storm dumped nearly a foot of snow in northwest Arkansas, the season's heaviest fall, as it spread into sections of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas and Oklahoma. But it tapered off during the night and only light snow fell

TOWN METERS NETTED $3,821 FOR JANUARY

Gettysburg spent twice as much as it took in during January but the balance remaining from the prior year permitted the town to retain its good financial position, according to the monthly report made by Borough Treasurer Harry D. Ridinger to borough council.

The parking meters provided more than half of the town's income during January. Despite snow and winter weather $3,821.43 was secured from the meters. The second largest income came from Burgess Wilbur L. Plank who collected $1,013.41 of which $21.50 was parking meter rental, $550 parking fines, $12.10 from building permits, $203.50 from two digging permits, $224.81 theater tax and $1.50 from the sale of maps. Fines brought in $65. Taxes provided $979.63. The remainder came from refunds, amusement tax, trailer taxes, etc.

22 ARRESTS

The town started the month with $65,546.82 in the bank, thus bringing the total income and balance for the month to $71,686.90.

Expenditures were $1,608.61 for general government, $5,104.32 for protection to persons and property, $3,706.82 for highway, $296.25 miscellaneous, $870.38 lights and $679.95 recreation board.

At the beginning of February the borough had $59,420.57 in its cash balance and $25,000 in a U.S. Treasury bond.

Chief of Police Jack Bartlett reported 12 criminal arrests and 10 traffic arrests during the month. There were five auto accidents investigated. The police received 320 calls, provided 22 escorts and assisted 58 other departments during the month. Of seven wallets reported lost five were found. Three cars were reported stolen and three found. One person was reported missing and one found.

Offers Amendment To Pa. Game Laws

Assemblyman Francis Worley has introduced an amendment to the state game law at Harrisburg providing for an open season on antlerless deer "not more often than once in three years nor longer in duration than one day which shall always be fixed as the day following the open season on male deer."

Mr. Worley, who is Adams County's representative in the House at Harrisburg, offered the amendment at the Monday night session.

The assemblyman said he voted with most other Republicans in the House against the two-cent gas tax jump as well as other tax increases proposed by the governor "because I think the governor should stop stacking loafers on the public payroll and stop trying to build a new governor's mansion before he thinks about tax increases on the people of the Commonwealth."

BARLOW FIRE CO. ELECTS; 30 YRS. OLD

Officers of the Barlow Fire Co. were elected Tuesday evening at a meeting in which the firemen noted that their organization will mark its 30th anniversary Friday.

Clarence Eyler was re-elected president; Harry Maring, vice president; John Schwartz, secretary; George Lambert, treasurer; David Reaver, Lester Spangler and Clarence Spangler, trustees; John Plank, chaplain, and James Millhimes, assistant chaplain.

Bernard V. Miller Sr. was re-elected to his tenth term as fire chief, with Heyward McCleaf and David Spangler named assistant chiefs.

The firemen, who have cancelled their weekly dances for the duration of the winter, also decided to postpone the annual Valentin card party — "until the weather clears."

READ OLD MINUTES

In observance of the 30th anniversary, the original minute books were read showing the company formed February 10, 1931, at a meeting held in Fair's store, at Barlow. The books showed the company began life with $19 dues placed in the treasury by the members.

The Barlow Fire Hall was dedicated in 1939 and was built by money lent by David Crider. Regular repayments were made of the principal and in due course the hall became completely free of debt.

A check of attendance records showed Fire Chief Miller had missed only one meeting in 16 years as a member. The one lapse occurred in August 1954 when he was in the hospital with a broken back.

NO ONE HURT IN 2 CRASHES

Damage totaled $810 but no one was reported injured in two accidents investigated by state police Tuesday.

A car and a truck collided Tuesdty afternoon at 4:40 o'clock at the intersection of two roads two miles north of Arendtsville. State police said J. Emmert Miller, 40, Aspers R. 1, operating a truck, came out a side road onto a secondary road and his truck was in a collision with a northbound sedan operated by Howard H. Sandoe, 31, Biglerville R. 1.

Damage to the left front fender and wheel of the 1931 truck was estimated at $50. Damage to the front bumper, grille, radiator and wheel of the 1957 car was estimated at $450.

Police said they plan to bring a charge of failing to yield the right of way against Miller and a charge of too fast for conditions against Sandoe.

A truck and a car collided at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Cross Keys intersection. Police said Charles Russell Williams, 66, Hampstead, Md., was driving south on the Hanover-Carlisle Rd. when his truck struck a westbound auto being operated by Raymond E. Mayer, 45, Arendtsville, on the Lincoln Highway. Damage to the left front fender of the 1951 truck was estimated at $60. Damage to the front bumper, right fender and door of the Mayer car was estimated at $250. Police said a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign will be placed against Williams.

STATE GIVEN KUYKENDALL $373 ESTATE

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will become the heir of O. J. Kuykendall, late of Highland Twp., instead of Sarah K. Riggleman, as a result of court action.

When Mr. Kuykendall died one of the heirs listed was Sarah K. Riggleman. When the state discovered this it brought action against the executors, Susan F. and Roy H. Kuykendall, claiming that the $373.73 in the estate for Sarah Riggleman should go to the state since Sarah Riggleman was a recipient of public assistance.

The matter was brought before the court and on December 30 a rule was handed down giving the executors of the estate 15 days to give an answer why the Commonwealth shouldn't receive the money.

SALES APPROVED

Monday the Commonwealth notified the court that no response had been made by the executors and as a result an order was made directing the executors to pay the inheritance to the state.

The court approved the sale by W. Roy Starry, executor of the will of Laura E. Miller, late of York Springs, of the Miller property in York Springs to Leslie Leer at public sale for $3,000. Starry was directed to file the usual bond of double the amount, or $6,000, before accepting the $3,000 and turning the property over to the purchaser.

Approval was given for the sale wago Twp., of a property in Mid- by Milton E. Lynch, Glen Burnie Park, Md., administrator of the estate of Marion E. Lynch, late of Conewago Twp., of a property in Midway to Charles E. Miller and Sons for $1,200. The estate is to receive $266.57 from the two-ninths share Marion Lynch had in the property. The administrator was directed to file a bond for $600 before accepting the money for the estate.

ACCOUNTS APPROVED

Grover E. Thompson was released as administrator of the estate of Corrine M. Thompson since administration of the estate has been completed.

Approval was given to accounts in nine estates which scheduled distribution of $154,870.83 to the various heirs. The accounts and amounts for distribution follow:

Told in an exciting present-day style and format and illustrated with photos and drawings, the stories will recapture all the color and tragedy of the Great Conflict. Events will be reported exactly 100 years after they occurred, week by week, but as if they were happening now.

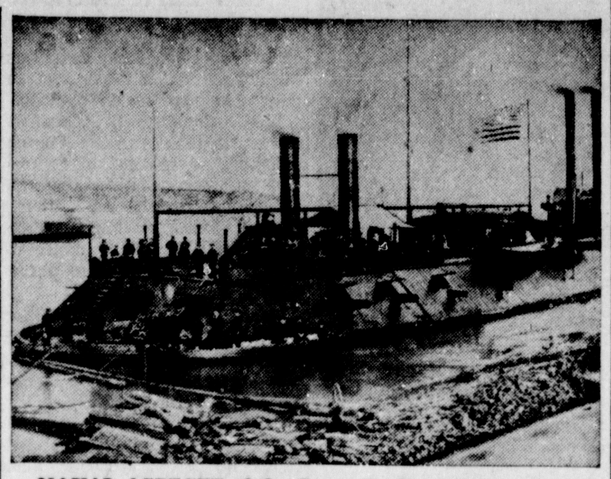

Shapings of the clouds of war that cast ominous shadows over our troubled land; the great and bloody battles of that war; the political doings relative to it; informative feature stories about the men who fought it; these will be told in datelined "dispatches" with all the hard-hitting impact of current reports from The Congo, Laos, Cuba, Washington or the U.N. The first dateline is February 11, when a grim, resolute ex-rail splitter named Abraham Lincoln, the shaky nation's president-elect, left his home in Springfield, Ill., for Washington, D. C., and his date with destiny and immortality.

GOOD ILLUSTRATIONS

During the course of the series all of the war's great battles — on sea as well as on land — will spring to life in "on-the-spot" stories and illustrations. Little-known aspects of the war that split a nation will be reported in bright, smooth-reading feature stories.

Authenticity is the keynote of the series. The stories have been researched down to the last details. Authors of the articles are two Chicago newspapermen, Eugene J. Czachorski and E. V. Moran.

Don't miss this thrilling, educational series, starting with Friday's edition of The Gettysburg Times.

NAVAL ASPECTS of the Great Conflict will be reported in depth. Above is the Union gunboat CAIRO, historically torpedoed. (Library of Congress).

8 INCHES IN ROANOKE

More than eight inches of snow fell in Roanoke, in southwest Virginia, in a second storm that hit southern and eastern areas with snow, sleet and freezing rain.

A disturbance off the Carolina coast and over Kentucky teamed to produce wet wetther from the Ohio Valley southward into the northern Gulf states and eastward to the middle and south Atlantic states.

The storms struck as many sections continued to dig out from winter's heaviest snowfalls of last week.

Snow continued during the morning over most of the Ohio Valley eistward into the Virginias. Rain dampened areas to the south. Freezing rain, snow or sleet pelted a narrow belt between the snow and rain zones.

4 INCHES IN MARYLAND

Up to four inches of fresh snow was indicated in Maryland tnd the east central Appalachians and one to three inches in the Ohio Valley.

Some snow was forecast for New York City as the gigantic task of getting the city back to normal operations moved forward in the wake of last week's snowfall of more than 17 inches. The snow was expected to change to rain or rain mixed with snow later today.

In the Midwest storm belt, seven inches of snow was reported in West Plains, Mo., north of the Arkansas border while snow flurries extended into Little Rock.

St. Louis was hit with a three-inch fall, adding to the seven inches already on the ground.

SNOW IN LITTLE ROCK

In the Midwest storm belt, seven inches of snow was reported in West Plains, Mo., north of the Arkansas border while snow flurries extended into Little Rock.

St. Louis was hit with a three-inch fall, adding to the seven inches already on the ground. Many schools in St. Louis and other parts of southern Missouri and northern Arkansas closed, as did some industries. At least two storm-related deaths were reported in Missouri.

No severe cold was reported in the storm areas.

$1,866.70. The judgment was entered November 16 at the courthouse here. The execution, which lists attorneys' fees of $280 as owing plus other costs, was issued January 26.

HAVE CANCELLED CHECK

In the Bakers' appeal they include a copy of a contract for placing of aluminum siding for $1,215 and installation of combination windows and doors for $298. The contract is with "Esma Inc." and Theodore T. Blauvelt's signature is affixed as authorized agent for Esma.

Also with the appeal is a paper showing a credit of $165 for orders sold in the vicinity of the Baker home thus reducing the amount owed to $1,348.

Attached is a copy of cancelled check for $1,348 endorsed by Blauvelt and cashed at a York band, April 28, 1960.

CLAIM FORGERIES

The Bakers allege fraud by which a note was attached to the contract, holding Blauvelt took the note from the contract, filled it in for $2,036. This note passed to Jim Miller Co., according to the complaint. Jim Miller is alleged to be half owner of Esma Inc. Jim Miller then handed the note to Reliance Inc. and received payment for it.

The Bakers claim their investigation shows Blauvelt made five payments on the note as held by Reliance and allege that if their signatures are affixed at any place it is a forgery.

Accompanying the note is a card stating completion of the work satisfactorily which the Bakers also allege was forged.

According to the Bakers they first became aware that Reliance held a note against them on September, but believed that since they had told Blauvelt the matter would be straightened out.

Kooken To Design Strousburg Garage

A. P. Kooken Co., New Oxford, has been selected by the General State Authority to prepare construction plans for a building at East Stroudsburg State College, Monroe County.

The Authority said Tuesday the firm will receive a fee amounting to about nine per cent of the final costs. The borrow-and-build agency said it has allocated $65,400 for the construction.

The proposed building would provide a garage with areas for truck and automobile maintenance, storage space and space for repairing college furniture and equipment.

4-Room Bungalow Destroyed By Fire

The four-room bungalow of John Freeman, located on High Rock Road in Pen Mar, was destroyed by fire shortly after 8 o'clock Monday night. Blue Ridge Summit firemen placed the damage at $2,500.

Firemen reported the building was owned by Franklin Shull, of Taneytown, and leased to Freeman, a Gettysburg Shoe Company employe. Fire Chief Harry McClain said he was told there was no insurance on either the dwelling or its contents.

Freeman and his wife were given shelter Monday night by a neighbor.

SEEKS FUNDS FOR 100 MORE STATE POLICE

HARRISBURG (AP)—The need for 100 additional state troopers was stressed by State Police Commissioner Frank G. McCartney in asking legislative committees to approve a general fund appropriation of $3,472,966.

McCartney said an ever-growing demand for services, the expanding population and the increased mileage of limited access highways required more men.

The commissioner said the general fund request includes $231,320 for the additional men. He said the new men would begin training as soon as possible after the legislature approves the allocation.

McCartney made the statements Tuesday in a hearing before the Joint House-Senate Appropriations Committee. The legislative group is hearing testimony on budget requests for the 1961-62 fiscal period starting next June 1.

CITES AG NEEDS

Agriculture Secretary William L. Henning appeared before the joint committee earlier Tuesday and said his department needed $4,234,740 to fulfill the minimum needs of agriculture.

"We believe we have been operating prudently with past budgets," he said.

The agriculture secretary stressed the need for a $108,000 appropriation in his budget for promotion of the state's farm products. He said:

"We believe that a strong program of consumer education is necessary if our farmers are to remain equally competitive with our neighboring states, many of whom are expanding many times this amount to promote their products."

Orphaned as a young boy, Louis Armstrong was sent to an orphan's home. It was there that he learned to play the cornet.

GOP PROGRAM IS ATTACKED BY DEMOCRATS

HARRISBURG (AP)—The legislative program outlined by House Republican members received a cold reception from the Democratic side Tuesday.

Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader, said the 15-point program "is more important for its omissions that it is for those matters upon which it commits itself."

He cited as significant omissions failure to mention proposals on mental health, juvenile delinquency, public health, urban renewal, improved taxes, control of lobbyists' activities around the legislature, clean streams, flood control and civil rights.

The program was released Monday night and read to the House Tuesdty by Rep. Willard F. Agnew Jr., GOP floor leader.

MORE PROPOSALS LATER

In answer to McCann's criticisms, Agnew said the program was "not meant to be a comprehensive program."

There will be additional suggestions and proposals later, he added, and Republicans will support some of the things McCann mentioned.

The GOP program did not go into specific details while announcing proposals in a wide range of ideas including civil service, highway safety, unemployment compensation, billboard control and reapportionment.

The House met for three hours Tuesday, taking up only minor matters.

PERFORMANCE BONDS

It passed, 12-0, a bill authorizing the Forests and Waters Department to use performance bonds to correct unsatisfactory work by its contractors; 184-0, making technical changes in law providing for distribution of $3 increase in state college rental fees; 184-1 to repeal a constitutional section authorizing the state to borrow money to pay for expenses of the 1933-35 biennium.

A bill changing the constitutional requirement that bills in the legislature be read "at length" on three separate days was defeated, 79-105.

It was an academic question anyhow, since the practice of reading bills at length long has been disregarded by the legislature.

Scientists Say Ball Can Curve Foot Going To Plate

CIENCE AT WORK

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Curve balls, thunder, copper atoms and spring trouble coming are subjects for science at work:

CURVE BALL

What makes a spinning ball—in baseball, table tennis or golf—curve?

A side force, something like a cross wind, develops to push the ball aside, scientists reported at the American Physical Society meeting.

A baseball pitched at moderate speed, spinning 30 revolutions a second, can move up to 1½ feet off course by the time it crosses the plate. A slow pitch curves more than a fast one, since it spends more time curving.

Experts say there is scientific evidence for a sharp-breaking pitch—a baseball taking a sudden change of direction.

MEASURE AN ATOM

Copper atoms behave as if they were tiny round balls—so small it would take 99½ million of them lined up to make an inch.

How do physicists know? They use an electric plating device to measure the amount of charge it takes to deposit a certain amount of copper on an electrode.

If you buy a pound of copper, they say, you are buying 4,300,000,000,000,000,000,000 (43 and 23 zeros) copper atoms.

ANATOMY OF THUNDER

Why does thunder rumble when heard from a distance?

The rumble is partially an echo of the original thunder clap, reflected back from a layer of ice, water and water vapor in the thundercloud itself, a researcher reports.

And what causes the thunder claps heard at short distances? The branching of a lightning bolt. Each point of the branch produces a single explosion heard as a thunderclap.

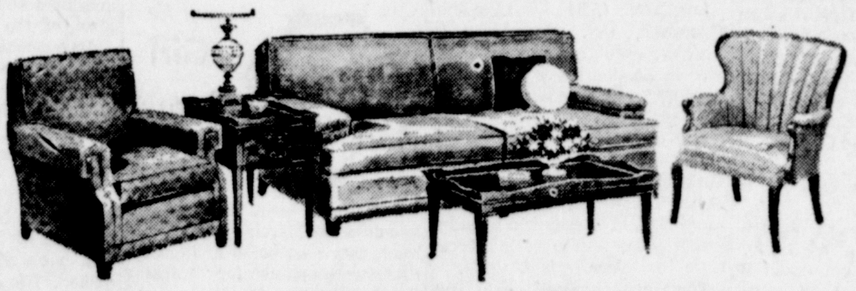

BAD NEWS

Trouble is gathering underneath all that winter snow. Crabgrass sprouts better after a hard winter.

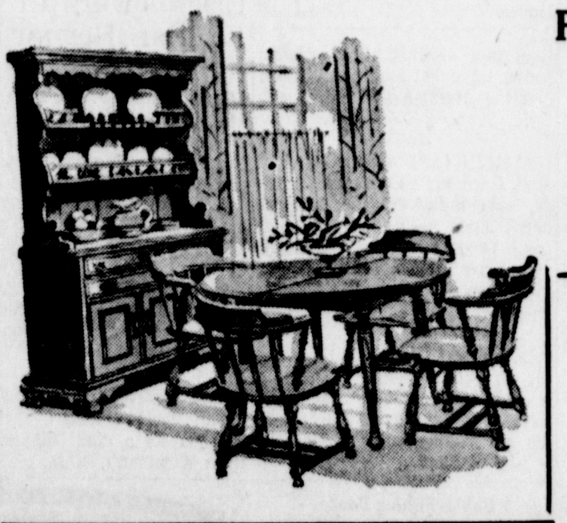

Somehow the severe frost seems to add extra zip to the germination of crab grass seeds, report horticulturists for the Dow Chemical Co. Crab grass dies every fall, but leaves an enormous crop of seeds to sprout in the spring. The seeds also benefit from the frost break-up of the soil and the added moisture from heavy snows. Crabgrass killers prevent new seeds from germinating.

Council Votes One Mill Boost In Borough Tax After Adopting Budget: The tax rate for borough purposes in Gettysburg in 1936 was set at a special meeting of the town council Friday night after a budget for the year had been adopted.

An increase of one mill was voted, making a total levy of 15 mills as compared with 14 for the past two years.

Faced with the necessity of raising the rate for special purposes the borough fathers clipped one mill off the levy for general purposes.

In 1935 the rates were 12 mills for general purposes and two for the special fund. The rate for this year is 11 mills for general and four mills for special purposes.

Rewrite WPA Project Here: Gettysburg's WPA project for the extension of North Fourth street has been re-written and sent to Harrisburg for approval, Burgess Wilbur J. Stallsmith said today.

The project was re-written to conform with a new ruling of the WPA that all projects must be completed by June 30 of this year. The first project provided for six months' work. The new project calls for three months' work and will start before April 1.

Borough Engineer Leroy Winebrenner has prepared a new set of plans and has forwarded them to Harrisburg. Burgess Stallsmith signed the new project papers this morning.

Record Graves of Many Vets: The graves of more than 5,000 soldier dead in Adams county have been listed in the veterans' grave survey being sponsored in this county by the county commissioners. The survey was authorized by an act of the legislature in 1929 and provides for the "compiling of a complete record of the location of the graves and records of service-connected dead."

First It Was Mosquitoes, Then It Was Malaria, And Now It's Just "Drainage.": The mosquito was called every name under the sun in Gettysburg for many years until some effort was made by Councilman C. W. Epley and a crew of workers to rid the town of the pest.

Then the borough ran out of money.

Then the eradication scheme was concocted into a WPA project. Some objected but about 99 per cent of the citizenry raised such a howl of protest against the dissenters that the project was submitted to Harrisburg for approval. Then it was sent to Washington for approval. Then it was sent back to Harrisburg for final approval. Then Gettysburg officials were told it was OKAY.

Cashtown Fair Closes Tonight: A large crowd is expected at the firemen's hall at Cashtown this evening for the closing night of the annual firemen's fair. With receipts and attendance for Thursday and Friday nights well above figures for the corresponding nights last year, it is expected that the sum of $517 taken in on the closing night in 1935 will be exceeded this evening.

On Thursday night the receipts amounted to $173 with the kitchen contributing $75 of that sum. On Thursday of fair week last year receipts amounted to $120. Friday's sum of $153 also was reported to be above the corresponding night of the fair in 1935. Attendance both nights was larger than other years.

Today's Talk

LOVE THAT RETURNS

Love always returns, if it is love which has been sent away. There is a back-bound to all things, great or small, which have as their purpose the sweetening of human life. But love has the greatest back-bound of all.

Do not think that the love you give away is not returned. It starts back the minute it is placed in circulation.

It comes back in enriched thought, in a chastened heart, in the satisfaction that you have given something beyond purchase with money or any other price.

Love returns in the appreciation that you have for all art and music, for every snowflake that falls, for every flower of spring, for every tint in the winter sky as the sun paints the glories of sunset streaked fingers on clouds and piled up domes.

Love really never goes away. It just runs errands!

And when love does return, it brings with it a taste of immortality. It cleanses the path of every man and woman, and is forever raising the standard of every possibility toward which man strives.

If you will treat love as you would your favorite flower—watering and feeding it—you will get the same results in new beauty through continual flowering.

Love keeps returning all the time, to accumulate anew and to gather fresh momentum for a new sending out and coming back again.

Just Folks

AT HOME

I do not want to see the sights,
I do not care about Japan
Or Italy's romantic nights;
A fig! say I, for Hindustan.
Great wonders round the world may be,
But still I do not care to roam.
I find there's joy enough for me
Here in the little place called home.

New scenes? I crave them not at all!
New faces? Better far the old!
This humble roof and modest wall
The treasures of a lifetime hold.
Here is a sweeter rest than that
They find who brave the ocean's foam.
And for all time I'd hang my hat
Here in the little place called home.

Travel, you wanderer, if you will,
And see the splendors of the earth;
No distant journeying can fill
This heart of mine with honest mirth.
Peace and contentment day by day
Come with the sunset and the gloam,
And to the end of time I'd stay
Here in the little place called home.

Denies He Plans To Turn Catholic

LONDON (AP)—The archbishop of Canterbury today denied as "wildly untrue" a rumor that he desires to turn Roman Catholic.

The archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, told an Anglican Church assembly of bishops, clergymen and lay representatives that the rumor was that he was retiring May 21 because, having met Pope John XXIII Dec. 2, "I desire to submit myself to the Rome obedience."

"To that I need only say that it is just as likely, no more and no less, that the Pope having met me desires to become an Anglican," Dr. Fisher said.

The archbishop, who is 75, had announced he was retiring because he felt a younger man should take over his post as spiritual head of the Church of England.

Fine 6 For Not Returning Books

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Six persons were fined $25 each Tuesday afterspending a night in jail charged with failure to return books to the public library.

The six, who were among 14 persons arrested in postmidnight raids on their homes, had to spend the night in jail because they could not raise $100 bail each at that hour of the morning.

The arrests were the first made under a new city ordinance providing for fines of up to $200 for persons who failed to return borrowed books.

Mayor James W. Kelly, who favored passage of the law, said he didn't think it would be enforced in quite this manner.

One man was sentenced to eight days in jail. He said he could not pay the $25 fine.

Library officals said the books had been out from four months to a year and several notices had been sent to each of the persons arrested.

WILL SIGN TWO STAR PITCHERS

By HARRY JUPITER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants expect two of the youngest pitchers in the major leagues to provide their 1-2 mound punch this year.

The youngsters with the big responsibility are southpaw Mike McCormick, 22, and right-hander Juan Marichal, 23.

McCormick, 15-12 last season, was the earned run king of the Nationtl League with 2.70. He signed his 1961 contract Tuesday for an estimated $25,000, described by Giants Vice President Chub Feeney as a "very good raise."

NUCLEUS OF STAFF

Marichal, a poised second-year man from the Dominican Republic, was 6-2 and had a 2.66 ERA but didn't appear in enough games for eligibility for the title. He joined the Giants after midseason and won his first four starts.

Feeney said he and Alvin Dark, the Giants' new manager, figure on McCormickc and Marichal as the nucleus of the pitching staff.

Among the others in the "solid six" are veteran right-handers Sam Jones, Jack Sanford and Stu Miller and southpaw Billy O'Dell.

The big problem is dependable relief pitching and current plans are for Jones, Sanford and O'Dell to also work in relief.

QUEBEC TIES SPRINGFIELD

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The chances are that the Springfield Indians will be on top of the American Hockey League standing when the season ends and that the Quebec Aces won't be in the playoffs. But the Aces have one distinction no other AHL team can claim—they held the Indians to a tie.

It was a 2-2 affair at Quebec Tuesday night—Springfield's first of the season and one of only five in the league so far.

High scoring Springfield started off in front with Jack Caffery getting a goal early in the first period and Bob McCord making it 2-0 at the start of the second. From there on it was mostly Quebec's game.

THREATEN MANY TIMES

Fleming Maiaell got a quick goal for the Aces and seven minutes later passed to Bob Bailey for the tying counter. The Aces threatened a good many times thereafter as they showed a complete form reversal. But their main concern was checking the league leaders and in the 10-minute overtime period Springfield goalie Marcel Paille made only one save.

The result left the Aces only two points behind Rochester and three behind Buffalo, but they have played more games than either of the teams. Rochester and Buffalo tangle on the Bisons' rink tonight with fourth placea t stake while the third-place Hershey Bears are hosts to Cleveland.

Warriors Gain 9th Win By Downing Delone 56-43; Carlisle Here Friday Night

Gettysburg High School's basketball team opened the second quarter with a flurry of shots and went on to roll up its ninth win of the season by stopping Delone 56-43, Tuesday night on the McSherrystown court.

Both teams used the first period as a warm up frame and kept the score close at a nip-and-tuck pace. Roger Ecker and Mark Eckert each dunked a foul to push the Warriors in front 2-0. Biff Rosensteel landed a corner jump after 2:17 had gone by to knot the count. Following Don Waddell's corner jump shot, Ron Riley put Delone in the lead on a trio of fouls and a two-handed lay-up. Waddell hit again from the corner and Rosensteel added a foul for the Squires. Gettysburg knotted the count for the second time on Howard Miller's jump from the left side. After Don Hartlaub sank one of two fouls, Waddell swished a jump to put the Warriors ahead for good. The Warriors led 10-9 at the end of the first stanza.

GHS IN SPURT

Miller, Eckert and Ecker snapped back in the opening minutes of the second period to dunk eight straight points and increase the visitor's margin to 18-9. Delone finally scored on Rosensteel's lay-up with 4:07 elapsed in the quarter. After Eckert landed a pair of jumps, Weaver followed with a push from the right side. Eckert scored a pair of fouls and Waddell hit from the corner. Rosensteel matched the corner shot and Livelsberger closed out the first half scoring with a pair of free throws. Gettysburg led 26-17 at half time.

Delone closed the Warriors' gap to five points midway through the third period. Riley and Weaver hit on jump shots and 2:18 minutes after the tapoff Miller tapped in a rebound for the Warriors. Rosensteel hit from the corner, Waddell hooked a shot and Riley followed with a two-pointer from the foul circle. Gettysburg led 30-25 with 4:00 left in the quarter.

Ecker, Miller and Eckert came right back with three quick goals. Rosensteel registered from the corner and Ecker added a foul. Weaver and Rosensteel scored goals for Delone while Waddell tapped in a rebound. Gettysburg was on top 39-31 after three frames.

The fourth period began to see-saw in scoring. Gettysburg scored nine of its 17 points on foul shots while Delone recorded four free throws. The Warriors closed out the scoring in the last 1:17 minutes on Eckert's lay-up, four fouls by Waddell and one by Miller.

Don Waddell and Howard Miller set the pace for the winners with 18 tallies each. Mark Eckert registered 13. Ron Riley and Biff Rosensteel topped the Squires with 17 and 14 points respectively.

DELONE SCRUBS WIN

The Delone JV's (5-8) jumped to a quick 13-5 lead at the end of the first frame and were never threatened as they copped a 49-27 decision in the preliminary contest. The junior Squires tallied heavily in each quarter, scoring 15 points in the final period. Gettysburg (4-8) was held to eight points in the first half.

Steve Groft, Don Hagerman and Bob Conrad led the winners with 10 points each. Ed Zeigler was high man for the Warriors with 15 counters.

A large crowd is expected to be on hand when Gettysburg (9-4) tangles with Carlisle on the high school floor Friday night in an important second half South Penn Conference battle.

Delone (7-6) will be idle until next Tuesday when its meets Lancaster Catholic in a Central Penn Catholic League game in Lancaster.

Exhibiting their best form of the season, the Gettysburg Junior High Braves won their second successive victory by pulling a mild upset in edging Shippensburg 43-39 here Tuesday evening in a South Penn League game.

The Braves hustled and played spirited ball throughout and capitalized on fast breaking time and again to score easy lay-ups.

In the opening period Coach Carl Schoenborn's lads piled up a 16-6 lead via three goals and a foul by Jimmy Newman, seven free tosses by Charley Sleichter and a goal by Gary Hartman. Newman, who wound up with 17 points, landed three more goals in the second half as Gettysburg led 26-14 at half time.

VISITORS RALLY

The visitors came back strong in the third period to slash the lead to 31-28 but the Braves recovered nicely to hold onto their edge in the final frame.

Gettysburg, now 2-4, will be idle until next Tuesday when Chambersburg Faust comes here for another league affair.

Shippensburg's javees held the local reserves (3-3) to single free tosses in the second and third period as they took the preliminary game 28-15. Donald Doaks swished 11 tallies for the locals.

11 Phils Can't Stay At Hotel

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — General Manager John Quinn of the Philadelphia Phillies says the club hopes to get better accomodations for its Negro players during the spring training, but it doesn't seem possible this year.

Quinn added Tuesday that the Phillies do not plan to issue an ultimatum that all personnel must be housed in the same hotel.

The Phillies train in Clearwater, Fla. The Fort Harrison Hotel has been the headquarters for club officials and the white players. The Negro players have been housed in private homes in the city.

Eleven of the 40 players on the Phillies roster will be quartered outside the hotel this year.

CHAMPION HAS EYE FOR ERROR IN FIRST FIGHT

SPRING VALLEY, N.Y. (AP)—Floyd Patterson must prefer horror movies to happy endings. The world heavyweight boxing champion watches the films of his first fight with Ingemar Johansson—not the second.

As Patterson was knocked down seven times in the first fight when he lost his title, and flattened Ingo the second time around, it seemed like a strange choice.

"The first fight is when I made the mistakes," explained Patterson to newsmen visiting his training quarters at a country club.

PEEK-A-BOO STYLE

Did Patterson expect to abandon his peek-a-boo style?

"I don't think so," he said. "Did you think I did in the workout? I was trying different things. But in an actual fight, I would have my hands back up there."

(Patterson's peek-a-boo style, in which he holds both hands high to block off head punches, has been criticized by many.)

Patterson, who plans to leave for a Florida camp next Tuesday, said he weighed 196 "about a week ago" when he last stepped on the scales. That is six more than he weighed for his second fight with Johansson last June.

WEIGHT TO SPARE

"I am not trying for any particular weight," he said. "Whatever comes is all right with me. I like to work with heavy sweat pants. Before other fights they were afraid I would take off too much weight so I boxed in trunks only. But this time I have weight to spare."

Patterson boxed four rounds Tuesday in training for his March 13 third fight with the Swede in Miami Beach. He didn't overexert himself against his sparmates, Wilson Hannibal and the champ's 18-year-old brother, Ray, who is competing in the Golden Gloves as a heavyweight.

Hawks Stretch Lead To 11 Full Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks, with an 11-game lead, are well on their way to the Western Division championship in the National Basketball Association. They already can claim they're champs and Wilt Chamberlain.

When the Hawks rallied in the last quarter, to pull out a 127-124 decision over Philadelphia Tuesday night, it was their fifth over the Warriors this season and the 11th straight time they've beaten Philadelphia in St. Louis.

They didn't stop Chamberlain's rush toward his second league scoring title. Wilt scored 37 points, barely under his season average, and grabbed 21 rebounds.

Somewhat more sensational was the performance of New York's Willie Naulls, who scored 49 points as the Knicks finally ended a 6-game losing streak with a 131-124 victory over the Detroit Pistons. The New York victory came after the pacesetting Boston Celtics had edged the Los Angeles Lakers, who had to play without Elgin Baylor, 96-95 in the opener of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader.

MOUNT EDGES CATHOLIC U. FOR 14TH WIN

Mt. St. Mary's chalked up its 14th victory and kept its perfect Mason-Dixon Conference record intact by whipping Catholic University 83-71 Tuesday evening at Washington, D. C. The Mounts are 8-0 in the conference and lead the Northern League. Catholic U. is 6-2 in the Southern circuit.

Early in the second half the Cardinals, sparked by Gene Horan, pulled to within 44-42, but the Mount recovered as Maloney drove through for two goals and the Emmitsburg outfit was never seriously threatened thereafter.

O'Reilly landed 22 points to lead the winners with Maloney accounting for 20, Ed Pfeiffer 18 and Dick Talley 12. Horan of the losers topped all scorers with 25.

Scotland pulled ahead 27-23 at half time and then clung to a slight lead as the Cadets downed Littlestown 58-51 Tuesday evening on the Thunderbolts' floor in an Adams-Franklin League game.

Dubose and Parker teamed up for 38 points for Scotland which proved the undoing of the Bolts. Bob Benner and Larry Bair netted 27 of the 68 shots from the floor while Littlestown made good on 21 of 64. In rebounding the Bolts led 25-14.

FAIRFIELD WINS

Fairfield upset New Oxford 44-43 on the Colonials' floor as Teddy Kane landed a goal in the waning moments to keep his team in front. In the closig seconds a Fairfield player missed a foul shot but his team captured the rebound and held onto the ball until the final whistle.

Joe McCauslin netted 19 tallies for Fairfield while Mike Smith rammed through 17 for New Oxford.

Bermudian surprised Quincy with a 59-55 triumph at Quincy. The Eagles took a commanding 18-8 lead in the first period and led by a comfortable margin until the Spartans staged a futile last period rally.

Craig Hoke ripped the cords for 23 points for Bermudian with Gary Stoops, Quincy's eagle-eyed tosser, taking the game's scoring honors with 37 points.

MONTREAL (AP) — Montreal's Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion returned to National Hockey League action with a flourish last week and added to his lead in the race for the scoring title.

The Canadiens' right winger, who won the point scoring crown in 1954-55 when his teammate and rival Rocket Richard had to sit out a three-game suspension, had missed six games because of a knee injury. He came back to score three goals and an assist in three games for a total of 66 points.

DUKE UPSET BY WOLFPACK IN CLOSE AFFAIR

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Everett Case, the silver-haired fox from Indiana who made big-time basketball a by word along Tobacco Road, isn't winning championships with the monotony of his first decade at North Carolina State.

But his Raleigh Wolfpack still has that knack for an upset snack against a touted team.

Third-ranked Duke became the latest victim of Case and the Wolfpack Tuesday night, falling to its first Atlantic Coast Conference defeat and only its second in 18 games—61-59 on sub Terry Litchfield's long jumper with two seconds left.

ST. JOE'S WINS

While State was showing it should still be reckoned with in the ACC tournament that determines the league's NCAA representative, Texas Tech, Princeton, Rhode Island, and Kentucky improved their conference ledgers and St. Joseph's (Pa) moved closer to a tournament berth.

Texas Tech, with Harold Hudgens scoring 25 points, went into a pressing zone, made up a 14-point deficit and beat Arkansas 72-66 for its sixth Southwest Conference victory in seven starts. Texas A&M took over second place at 5-2, beating Rice 79-59, while Southern Methodist spilled defending champion Texas 70-63.

Princeton got 22 points from Al Kaemmerlen and 21 from Pete Campbell for its fifth straight Ivy League triumph 77-55 over Penn, and Rhode Island moved to within a half-game of Yankee Conference leader Maine by scoring 12 straight game-ending points for a 71-65 victory over Massachusetts.

KENTUCKY WINS

Kentucky, moving up steadily in the Southeastern Conference, made its league record 4-4 with its 10th victory in 17 tries, 74-67 over Georgia as Roger Newman scored 24, Ned Jennings 21 and Allen Feldhaus stopped Bulldog ace Phil Simpson in the second half. Simpson wound up with 29 points after getting 22 in the first half.

St. Joseph's (Pa) gave scoring ace Jack Egan the night off but still crushed Elizabethtown 98-65 for a 15-4 record. The Hawks are heading for another bid to the National Invitation Tournament, which Tuesday nailed Providence (15-2) and DePaul (12-4), unless theys hould win the Middle Atlantic Conference. In that case, St. Joseph's would compete in the NCAA scuffling.

Harold Johnson Is Light Heavyweight Champ After Impressive Win Over Bowdry

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Harold Johnson is the new National Boxing Association world light heavyweight champion, but he still isn't quite happy.

"I don't feel like I'm the champ yet," the usually taciturn Philadelphian said in his dressing room Tuesday night after stopping young Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis in the ninth round to win the blessings of the NBA.

"When I beat the old man (Archie Moore) I'll get that feeling."

Moore knocked out Johnson in the 14th round in Johnson's only other shot at the title. The NBA whisked the crown from Moore's furrowed brow when he took an indifferent attitude toward defending it.

SEEKING RETURN BOUT

The sharp-featured, muscled Johnson has been seeking a return bout since that 1954 kayo, with frustration piling on frustration. Tuesday night he put his frustration to work. Usually a cautious fighter, he suddenly turned tiger.

He put Bowdry on the canvas three times in a classic variety of poses, and after the third knockdown referee Cy Gottfried decided the wobbly, woozy, rubber-legged youth was in no condition to continue.

The end came in 45 secondss of the ninth round. The record crowd of 4,017 which paid a non-record $20,829.50 started whooping.

PINWHEEL OF ACTION

Johnson was a whirring pinwheel of action as the ninth opened. He threw punches from everywhere, with a solid left to the midsection the clincher. Bowdry went down for the final time, and would have been a sitting duck when he arose had not the referee intervened.

It was a man with a classic, stand-up style and a rapier left hand against a bobbing, weaving, bull-like fighter who kept trying to get in close to run into his own fraustations.

Johnson, at 172 pounds was the artist, while the 23-year-old Bowdry, at 173 was the tenacious bulldog making himself a difficult target. The first few rounds were uneventful, and most could have called either way.

BECAME TOO BRAVE

Late in the sixth Bowdry landed a couple of good punches, and suddenly became too brave. He drove in again, and was clipped by a left hook. He started to throw another punch, but suddenly fell apart in a delayed action fall. He took a count of nine.

With two seconds to go in the eighth a right and left combination dumped him in a jackknifed pose, as if he were starting to turn a somersault. He was resting on the back of his neck when the gong sounded.

So the 32-year-old Philadelphian finally found the rainbow's end, But the pot of gold was small. He and Bowdry each got 25 per cent of the net gate—there was no television or radio.

POSTED BOND

He and Bowdry each posted a $5,000 bond to guarantee the winner would fight a challenger selected by the NBA within 90 days. Who he will be and where the fight will be held remains to be decided.

Chuck Calderwood was ranked No. 2 behind Johnson, and Erich Schoeppner No. 3. Dave Ott of Cleveland, NBA president, was noncommittal as to whether the challenger would be one of those two.

Johnson would like to be the venerable gent named Archie Moore.

JOHNSON WILL DEFEND TITLE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The manager of Harold Johnson, the new National Boxing Association world light heavyweight champion says he promised his fighter would defend the title in 90 days and will keep his word.

"Anything they (the NBA) want us to do, we'll do," said a happy Pat Oliveri after Johnson had stopped Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis Tuesday night for the NBA version of the crown.

"We'll fight anybody the NBA picks—even Moore (former champion Archie Moore), but you can bet it won't be Archie," Oliveri said. "The old man is never going to make the light-heavyweight limit again. He knows it and everybody else knows it except the New York and Massachusetts Boxing Commissions."

DETHRONED MOORE

The New York and Massachusetts commissions still recognize Moore as the champion. The NBA dethroned Moore for failing to defend his title within required time limits.

Johnson said that he still doesn't feel like a champion. And he wouldn't until he defeated Moore.

Oliveri said he had been approached by a spokesman for a group of Miami Beach businessmen recently with a reported $250,000 offer for a match between Johnson and Moore.

"I don't believe there's anything but hot air in the proposition," said Oliveri. "Sure, we'd be tickled to go into it if it was on the level—after we make good to the NBA."

Senate Passes 2-Cent Gas Tax; Bill Goes To Lawrence; May Act On Housing Bill Soon

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Senate Tuesday night passed a measure, previously approved by the House, to raise the gasoline and diesel fuel tax from 5 to 7 cents a gallon and make it permanent. It will go into effect April 1.

The bill was sent to Gov. Lawrence, who proposed the higher taxes for highway construction. He is expected to sign the measure in a day or two.

Sen. Charles R. Weiner, Democratic floor leader—faced with solid Republican resistance—decided to defer action until next week on $105.7 million in business taxes.

FAIR HOUSING

The Senate Democrats, therefore, today turned their attention to the controversial fair housing and sunday liquor bills. Two Republicans—Sens. Z. H. Confair of Lycoming and Harold Flack of Luzerne—joined 25 Democrats in approving the gasoline and diesel fuel increase, 27-22, one more than the constitutional majority of 26 votes. Both said they had commitments from the administration for quick action on roads in their areas, particularly the Keystone Shortway.

A plan to boost the borrowing limit of the Highway and Bridge Authority from $120 million to $420 million picked up nine Republican votes and sailed through 34-15. It, too, was sent to the governor for signature.

The $300 million increase would be spent over six years to accelerate key federal interstate highway projects. The money would be repaid as federal grants become available.

CRASH PROGRAM NEEDED

Democrats said a crash program of highway construction is needed to offset soaring unemployment in Pennsylvania's sagging economy.

Republicans agreed that speedup of public works projects would provide more jobs but they questioned whether so much money can be wisely spent immediately.

They offered amendments to increase the gas tax by one cent for a two-year period, increase the Highway and Bridge Authority debt limit by $100 million, increase local community's share in the tax boost tnd grant exemptions for gasoline used solely in cemeteries. All were beaten on straight party-line votes.

BACK TO PARTY

Democrats had hoped to pass the business tax levies Tuesday night. But Flack and Confair went back to the party ranks, swelling Republican resistance to the proposals.

After a bill to accelerate corporation income taxes failed in a test vote Weiner delayed action on the remainder of the package.

He first said he would bring the measure to a vote today, then decided to wait until next week in hopes of getting Republican support.

Noting that Republicans joined to give unanimous approval to a bill giving local communities a 20 per cent share of one cent of the fuels taxes increase, Weiner said:

LITTLE MAN TAXATION

"They are willing to put taxes on the little man, Joe Doaks, but they are not willing to tax the corporations. This is the kind of thing that has been going on all along."

Other bills finally approved by the Senate and sent to Lawrence for signature would:

Change the state's fiscal year to run from July 1 to June 30. It now runs from June 1 to May 31.

Transfer some $665,000 from unused special funds to the general government fund.

REAL ESTATE TAX

Increase from $15 million to $30 million the amount the Commonwealth may temporarily transfer from its general fund to the liquor stores fund.

Make the one per cent real estate transfer tax permanent. It had been re-enacted every two years.

Major business proposals hanging fire would:

Require 80 per cent prepayment prior to June 1 of these taxes: corporate net income, bank share, utilities gross receipts and foreign life insurance premiums. This would raise some $82 million, which Lawrence said would be used to help avoid an estimated $86 million deficit in the fiscal period ending May 31.

ELIMINATE COMMISSION

Eliminate the 2 per cent commission paid to merchants for collection of the sales tax, to raise $8 million.

Reduce from 4 to 1½ per cent the commission for affixing tax stamps on cigarettes, to raise $2.5 million.

Extend the 8 mill bank shares levy to building and loan associations, to raise $4 million.

Extend to Pennsylvania companies the 2 per cent tax on life insurance premiums collected by foreign nisurance firms, to raise $9.2 million.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

Other legislative developments:

Fair Housing — Democrats won approval to bring the Fair Housing Bill up for another vote at today's Senate session. The measure, which prohibits racial, national and religious discrimination in the sale or lease of some housing was defeated last week.

Sunday Liquor—The Senate has amended and put off until today a plan easing requirements for referenda on the question of Sunday liquor sales in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia hotels. The amendment would increase from 5,000 to 25,000 signatures required on petitions to put the question on the ballot. The original law, enacted in 1959, required the signatures of 25 per cent of the number of voters in the preceeding election.

House—The House acted on a light calender before adjourning until 11 a.m. today.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek Tuesday directed Nationalist China to practice austerity during the Chinese lunar New Year, which begins Feb. 15.

Horace Greeley did not originate the phrase "Go west, young man." It first appeared in an editorial by John B. L. Soule in the Terre Haute, Ind., Express in 1851. Greeley reprinted the editorial in his New York Tribune.

ANALYST SAYS CONSPIRACY WAS 'NATURAL'

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — How did the big antitrust conspiracy among most of the nation's makers of electrical equipment start? How did it spread? How did it work?

In corporate circless many claim it just grew naturally in an attempt to bring order out of a chaotic situation. The industry was plagued by frequent ups and downs, by price cutting in which only the big could survive, by inability of small companies to enter new fields.

So it turned to what similar companies often do in Europe, to what was done here during the depression under the NRA.

KEPT GROWING

Once started, price fixing and market dividing kept on growing. The federal government says operations became almost perfect in the industry which averages $2 billion sales a year. Some executives borrowed methods they probably had read in whodunits.

Fines for what the government calls a cynical and long-established violation of antitrust laws come to almost $2 million and—more startling to many businessmen—seven of their colleagues are sentenced to jail for 30 days.

The Justice Department scoffs at company pleas that the deals actually were good for both the makers of the big gadgets and the public and customers because market stability benefits all. The government says the customers—public and private—were faced with rigged bids to maintain or raise prices and give all hands a predetermined percentage of the business. Good for business maybe—but against the law.

START WAS SIMPLE

Getting started was relatively simple, as shown in the statements by government and defense attorneys before Chief Judge J. Cullen Ganey in U. S. District Court.

In this specialized industry most executives know each other and meet frequently at conventions such as the completely aboveboard ones of the National Electrical Manufacturers Association. Shop talk after hours involves sales prospects, prices, bad times or good ahead, how cutthroat competition can be met.

Once it was decided to do something about it, more or less regular meetings were held.

Here's how it was done, as set forth by the government in charges to which companies and individuals pleaded guilty or no contention.

Prices were agreed upon and often business apportioned by seeing that companies took turns in making the best bid for a job. Sometimes rotation was made by frequent checking of market conditions. Sometimes it was automatic, etch taking its turn at a prearranged time. Sometimes it was geographic—areas set up in which specified companies rotated with the winning bids.

The government charged, and defense attorneys admitted, two types of meetings: the high level at which prices and shares of business were set; the low level, at which subordinates saw to the rotation of winning bids as market conditions determined. (Some companies say their very top men were unaware of the practice at all.)

The bubble burst when customers complained that American bids over the years looked too much alike and were well above foreign bids for the same equipment.

Found Guilty Of Manslaughter

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A Lackawanna County jury Tuesday convicted Andrew John Cheresko, 34, of Scott Township, of voluntary manslaughter. The jury also recommended mercy.

The Commonwealth had asked for a first degree murder conviction against Cheresko, charged with running his car over Mrs. Hazel O'Malley last Nov. 8.

The Commonwealth said Mrs. O'Malley, 34, of Scranton and Cheresko had been drinking before they argued and Cheresko ran her down.

The two had been employed at Clark's Summit State Hospital, Cheresko as a guard and Mrs. O'Malley as a cook.

The jury deliberated five hours before returning its verdict before Judge William Nealon. The judge did not say when he would sentence Cheresko. Maximum sentence for manslaughter is 6 to 12 years.

Slash In Duty-Free Buying Abroad Stirs Shopkeepers

LONDON (AP)—President Kennedy's plan to limit duty-free purchases by Americans traveling abroad to $100 drew groans from foreign shopkeepers but American tourists generally accepted the move philosophically.

There was a feeling that the new administration's initial steps to protect U.S. gold reserves might have been much more drastic. One effect might be price cuts by stores that specialize in catering to Americans.

British economic experts were gratified that the President had ruled out such short-term remedies as higher tariffs, devaluation of the dollar and cutbacks in overseas aid.

JAPS ARE CONCERNED

Japanese Foreign Office sources showed concern and said if the program is carried out in full, Japan will have to step up its campaign to increase exports to nations other than the United States.

Mexican border communities—especially Tijuana, Mexicali and Ensenada, where many stores depend entirely on American tourist trade—are bound to feel a blow.

Financial circles predicted that Kennedy's efforts to strengthen the U. S. economy and to get international coordination of interest rates could lead to an outflow of invested money from Britain.

Also his specific meassures to boost foreign spending in the United States and to discourage American expenditure abroad were certain to cut Britain's trade earnings.

BRITISH FEAR IMPACT

Trade sources expressed fears Britain would feel the impact in the sale of many luxury goods—automobiles, for example — and predicted the immediate loss in duty-free purchases would cost Britain an estimated $21 million a year.

Last year 414,000 Americans visited England and spent about $140 million on hotels, services and goods. Against this only 73,000 Britons visited the United States, spending less than $28 million.

Shopkeepers in Hong Kong, which attracted about 60,000 American tourists last year, were bitterly disappointed and unanimously predicted the Kennedy program would not work.

HELP FROM GERMANY

Almost simultaneous with the Kennedy cut-back program, West Germany announced its long-rumored offer to give the United States more than $900 million in immediate financial help.

The West German aid would be in the form of prepayment of $325 million for military equipment and $587 million in postwar debt over the next 27 years. It carried the condition that the United States wipe out the remaining $200 million in West Germany's postwar debt in settlement of German Assets in America seized during World War II.

2 PRESIDENTS TO MEET SOON

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP)—A Mexican government source predicted that the friendly atmosphere prevailing at the first interparliamentary congress of U. S. and Mexican congressmen may encourage an early meeting of Presidents Kennedy and Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

He predicted such members of the American delegation as Democratic Senate Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Sens. Bourke Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, Albert Gore, D-Tenn., Ernest Rooney, D-Alaska, and Dennis Chavez, D-N. M., would certainly endorse such a meeting.

Eleven U. S. senators and 11 U.S. representatives began a four-day meeting Monday with about 30 Mexican senators and deputies, exchanging views on points ranging from trade to border problems.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

THE STIEGEL-EGE FAMILY

The data on Henry William Stiegel, his life and words, are continued at this time — with additional information on his supposed burial at Brickerville in Lancaster County.

The last straw needed "to break the camel's back" regarding Brickerville as the site of Stiegel's burial place is provided by the Ege family. It must be remembered that the Eges had "to foot all the bills" in connection with the death of their uncle-by-marriage. It is a forgone conclusion that they would completely ignore a sentimental request that would add to the sum total. The Eges had pride as well as money—Stiegel would be given a respectable but convenient burial. It is extremely doubtful if they would arrange to have Stiegel's body carried over the long miles to Brickerville for interment beside a woman who meant absolutely nothing to them. Such a journey would have been difficult at any time—but in the dead of winter it would have been an almost impossible feat.

The Brickerville tradition has all the ingredients of a delightful, sentimental story. Unfortunately the facts of the case fall far short of actual proof.

LOGICAL CONCLUSION

Another school of thought, vigorously supported by some Lancaster County historians, advances the theory of Stiegel's burial in the graveyard of Zion Lutheran (the Red Rose) Church at Manheim, Pa. This is a completely logical conclusion. During the days of his prosperity Stiegel deeded to this congregation, for a minor consideration and an annual rental of "one red rose," a choice corner lot in his town of Manheim, for a church and burial ground. To show their appreciation the church authorities might have provided the necessary "wherewithal" for Stiegel's burial in the churchyard. A most suitable theory but one that remains entirely undocumented.

There is, however, a bit of indirect evidence to support the Manheim claim. In the churchyard there is a tombstone with the name "Heinrich Stickel" cut thereon. The year of birth is given as 1749 and that of death as 1802. According to family records Stiegel was born in 1729 but such a mistake as well as the misspelling of his name could be blamed on the stonecutter. But — the date of death is also incorrect for Stiegel died in 1785 — one stonecutter could not be wrong in an entire inscription.

DOESN'T HAVE PROOF

An aged resident of Manheim, and one descended from an old and well-established family, John Esminger, stated very definitely that the stone of "Heinrich Stickel," in Zion Lutheran Churchyard marked the grave of Henry William Stiegel. Unfortunately he failed to provide the necessary proofs to document his statement. Quite possibly the story had been handed down in the Esminger family and no one, at a later day, could tell when or by whom it originated.

The next traditional site of Stiegel's grave is the burying ground of Saint Daniel's (or the "Corner") Lutheran Church, located near Robesonia, in Berks County.

The late Rev. F. C. Croll, a well known Berks County historian, is, apparently, the person responsible for locating Stiegel's grave in this churchyard. As customary, in Stiegel folklore, the grave was not marked and therefore cannot be definitely located. Continuing along the same trend of thought the Rev. Mr. Croll gave no data to bolster his claim. The question naturally comes to mind as to just why, or for what reason, Stiegel's body should have been transported to and interred in a spot with which he had, while living, no known connection. Places near and dear to him were much closer at hand.. Furthermore the Eges had no desire to incur unnecessary expense and it is extremely doubtful if they would go so far afield in choosing a burial place.

The Moravian Burial Ground at Little North Heidelberg Church is the next traditional site of Stiegel's burial. This churchyard is located six miles north of Robesonia in Berks County. Some 30 years ago, more or less, the ancient Fodder Haines, of North Heidelberg Township, declared that to his certain knowledge Stiegel was interred in the graveyard of the Moravian Church and the church records, on file in the Moravian Archives at Bethlehem, Pa., would prove his statement.

MARK ANNIVERSARY

In 1944 the congregation of Little North Heidelberg celebrated its 200th anniversary. At that time Dr. Albert Graeff translated and transcribed the church records. The name of Henry William Stiegel was not found in the list of burials or elsewhere.

There is a grave in the old burial ground, located south of the stately Mansion House at Pine Grove Furnace in Cumberland County, that has long been pointed out as that of Stiegel. This site is a rather important one, historically speaking, for the "iron works" at Pine Grove weww were, for many years, one of the more important properties of the Ege family.

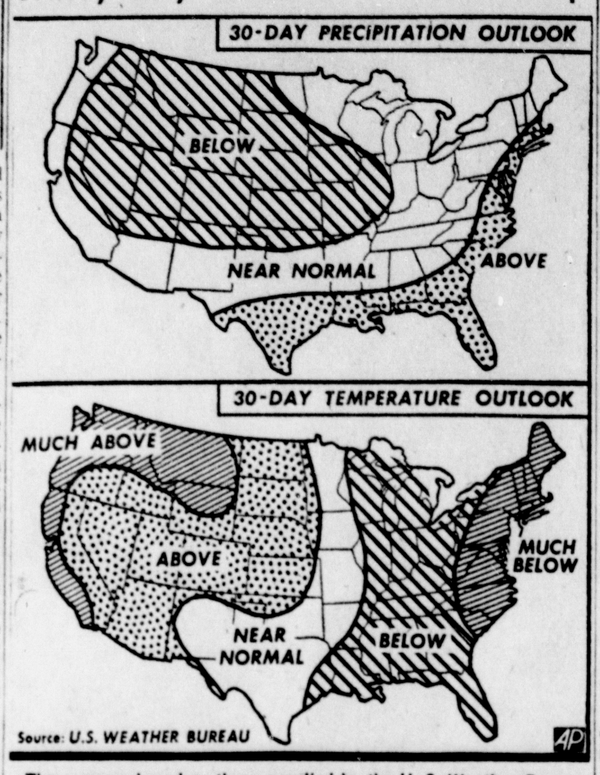

In the woods, about a mile southeast of the "Mansion House" built by Michael Ege there is a small, overgrown, neglected burial ground. At one time it must have been well cared for and not quite so difficult to reach. With the passing of the years, however, the path or road that led to it was obliterated and it is seldom visited. Fifty years ago there were at least 60 marked graves but now only five stones, with legible inscriptions, can be found.

FAMILY BURIAL GROUND

It is impossible, at this late date, to determine just when and by whom the burial plot was started. Tradition points to the Michael Ege family. The few remaining grave markers bear this out for three of the five mark Ege graves. Apparently it was a family burial ground, set aside for the Eges and their connection. There is no evidence to show that the employes of the Furnace were permitted to use it.

The notes as to just where Henry William Stiegel, ironmaster and ware, is buried will be continued in this column next week.

MORE JOBLESS IN THIS STATE

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's ranks of jobless increased by 52,000 to 433,000 persons between mid-November and mid-December, the State Labor and Industry Department reports.

The department's Bureau of Employment Security said Monday total employment during the peri dropped 16,500 to an estimated 4,205,900. The figure was 137,600 below December 1959.

"An appreciable part of the job loss was due to the effects of the crippling snowstorms which swept across the state and drastically curtailed construction activity," the bureau said.

It also said that factory re-employment fell 27,600 since mid-November with the greatest losses registered by primary metals, apparel and food products.

Some employment upturns were noted in nonmanufacturing industries, and among the self-employed and domestic workers.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new secretary of state, Dean Rusk, is a technician and neither an actor nor a politician.

This tall, round-faced, scholarly looking man, who will be 52 Thursday, is unsensational in voice and statements. He gives the impression that whenever this government has anything important to announce in foreign affairs it will be President Kennedy who does it, not Rusk.

It wasn't that way with John Foster Dulles, President Dwight D. Eisenhower's first secretary of state who died in 1959.

UNLIKE DULLES

Dulles was both a bit of an actor and a politician, a secretary who made flamboyant statements which got into headlines but often never panned out.

You'd have to swim a lot of diplomatic channels before finding two men more unlike than Rusk and Dulles at their first news conferences.

Rusk held his first State Department news conference Monday. For all the solid news involved Rusk could have done without the meeting with the press.

NO QUICK SOLUTIONS

He apparently called it to get across the idea that he'll try to be helpful in getting out news. But he also said that whenever he thinks the good of the country requires it, he'll clam up.

This was a frank promise of what to expect. It was in keeping with a statement he made before taking office—that he wants more State Department candor.

Rusk had no solutions for anything and, like Kennedy, warned against expecting quick ones.

Dulles was a lawyer who could use the language precisely as it suited him to get the effect he wanted.

LESS TRAVELING

Rusk gives the impression of a man who uses the language not for effect but for caution.

Dulles broke all records for travel by a secretary of state. He was endlessly on the move as if he felt a job couldn't be well done unless he did it.

Rusk isn't likely to do so much running around since he believes strongly in depending on a trained diplomatic corps.

He has written that the secretary of state must be the central figure in developing foreign policy. But this doesn't mean he will seek the headlines himself.

It's this writer's guess that Rusk will be a modest secretary who lets the President make the big pronouncements while he and his staff work quietly out of sight as much as possible.

KENNEDY GETS ANTIQUE DESK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A desk fashioned from the timbers of a British sailing ship of more than a century ago will be used by President Kennedy as his personal desk.

Since her husband is an ex-naval officer, Mrs. Kennedy ordered the massive, richly carved desk made from the Resolute moved from a lower floor of the White House to the President's office.

Former President Dwight Eisenhower used the desk early in his first term during a broadcast from a ground level room in the White House.

An inscription on the desk notes that the president and people of the United States purchased the ship and presented it to Queen Victoria as a token of friendship. The desk was made from the timbers when the Resolute was broken up and presented to the president by Queen Victoria.

Ex-Grand Master Fatally Stricken

HARRISBURG (AP)—Ralph M. Lehr, 66, retired coal dealer and former grand master of the Pennsylvania Grand Lodge of Masons, was stricken fatally with a heart attack at the wheel of his automobile Monday.

Lehr had just left his office, got into his car and drove to an intersection. Lehr's car struck the rear of a city ash truck. Mrs. Lehr, who was with her husband, escaped injury.

Dr. Charles W. Smith said Lehr had been under treatment for a heart condition for many years.

UPSETS AUTO

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mrs. Alfrieda Vickers drove by a barricade by mistake and got herself into a real hole. Her car skidded into a 15-foot construction excavation, landing upside down.

She was only slightly injured, but found she was unable to climb the steep sides of the muddy hole. It was an hour later before a passerby heard her cries for help and summoned aid.

Hopes To Recover Her Stolen Jewels

KLOSTERS, Switzerland (AP)—Mrs. Peter Lawford, sister of President Kennedy, said that the New York police are confident the $30,000 worth of jewelry recently stolen from her New York hotel suite will be recovered.

Mrs. Lawford arrived for a 10-day skiing holiday at this fashionable resort by automobile.

Asked about the theft of her jewelry, she told newsmen: "The police told me I'll get it back."

New York police have complained she avoided discussing the theft with them. Mrs. Lawford declined to elaborate on her statement.

HIGH SENIORS HIT LOW MARK

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania high school seniors will have to bone up on their vocabulary, spelling and reading to compete with seniors from other schools in the country.

That was the indication from the Department of Public Instruction Monday. It reported that while state seniors were lower than the national average in these three categories, they were higher in mathematics and grammar.

The department said the conclusions were based on the results of tests given 17,000 pupils in 118 high schools representing a sampling of the 100,000 students expected to graduate in June.

Of those tested 52 per cent failed to score above the national average in vocabulary and reading.

More than 70 per cent ranked below the national average in spelling.

The testing program was conducted as part of the department's three-year curriculum revision study.

LANCASTER, England (AP) — Ronald Sheldon, 36, was killed by a train Tuesday a few hours after he and three other convicts escaped from Lancaster Prison. Two of his companions were recaptured.

Today's baseball bullpen is of exaggerated value, says Hall of Fame first baseman Bill Terry.

TO END BUDGET HEARINGS SOON

HARRISBURG (AP)—The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said Tuesday he expected to wind up hearings on Gov. Lawrence's $991,126,372 budget next week.

Rep. J. Dean Polen added in an interview that he didn't expect the proposed outlay for the 1961-62 fiscal year would encounter mush opposition in the House.

Polen has been presiding at the joint hearings by his own committee and the Senate Appropriations Committee. They started the work last week with the Highways Department and have been rolling along on a day-and-night basis ever since.

Polen said he thought the House could complete action on the budget in early March.

A veteran House Republican agreed that the Lawrence spending proposals probably wouldn't encounter much opposition.

To Use Planes In Feeding Wild Life

HARRISBURG (AP)—An appeal for helicopters and light airplanes to take grain to snowbound areas where deer are starving has been made by the State Game Commission.

Executive Director M. J. Golden said the commission began trying to get the use of the light aircraft Monday after a meeting to plan for an expanded emergency game feeding program.

If the severe winter weather continues, Golden said, the commission will need an additional $100,000 to buy grain for the emergency feeding program.

He said the commission already has spent the $158,000 it budgeted for winter feeding this season and has been studying other programs to see where it can find the additional money.

Damage Claims Jumping Into Millions "Creole" May Explain Navy's Reluctance

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

CAPTAIN HENRIQUE MALTA GALVAO, the self-elected buccaneer skipper of the wayward S. S. Santa Maria, is hardly an original plot builder. That could be the reason he was something less than a success as a writer of Portuguese fiction.

Morever, his surprise capture of an unarmed ship, laden with passengers on a holiday voyage, hardly puts him in a class with Francis Drake, Henry Morgan, or Jean Lafitte.

Captain Galvao could easily be at home alongside Captain Kidd. But this is no compliment. Those familiar with his record will recall that Kidd's capacity for implicating others and his inability to explain what happened to the loot constitute the only basis for his piratical fame.

IN ORIGINALITY, Captain Galvao is a 120 years behind Dr. Ashbel Smith, minister from the Republic of Texas to the British Court of St. James, 1842.

Two, new, powerful, steam warships, the Moctezuma and the Guadaloupe, built especially for Mexico to support a Mexican invasion of Texas, were leaving Liverpool on their delivery voyage. They were commanded by two, on-leave officers of the Royal Navy.

Dr. Smith conspired with an adventurous Englishman to recruit two groups who would infiltrate the small, merchant crews being signed on. They would overpower the officers and sail the warships to a Texas port. A Lone Star admiralty court would have most certainly declared them prizes of war.

IF DR. SMITH could come forth with as much cash as Captain Galvao spent for his men's tickets aboard the luxury liner, the Texan Navy would not have had to fight those same two ships, off Campeche, the following year. Incidentally, they were still commanded by the same English officers.

Throughout the American Civil War, it was common knowledge that English naval officers "on leave" became rich as commanders of blockade runners into the Confederacy. All of which clearly shows that law on the high seas can be almost anything so long as the offending ship (and ships do have the status of persons in international law) can find a friendly port with a sympathetic admiralty judge.

BECAUSE THE LAWS of any nation, except for ships flying its flag, cease to have jurisdiction beyond the coastal limit, the rules for search and seizure on the high seas come from case precedents. This is especially true when an offending ship's flag is foreign to that of the subsequent legal action.

Most case precedents were established in English and American admiralty courts, because their navies have done most of the searches and seizures on the high seas. Other precedents have resulted from the findings of arbitration commissions, which also assessed the damages. In such cases, the nation in error has indemnified the ship and/or cargo owners.

CLAIMS GALORE will arise from the current Santa Maria affair. Every passenger who can rationalize the idea that the unexpected delay caused him to miss a million-dollar deal will eventually be standing in line, hat in hand, with a claim for the exact amount, plus interest from the day the wayward ship caused him to miss the vital appointment.

One of more beneficiaries of this two-week extension to a luxury cruise will be claiming recompense of at least a $100,000 worth of mental anguish.

THERE IS no exact precedent for Captain Galvao and the Santa Maria. Captain Galvao is guilty of mutiny only in the broadest sense of the term. He and his men had not signed on as members of the crew, though as passengers they were subject to the captain's orders. But murder has been done. A bill for damages is jumping into millions.

The nearest approach to a precedent for the Santa Maria is the case of a ship appropriately named the Creole. In interstate, coastal commerce, completely legal in 1841, the Creole was transporting 130 slaves from Virginia to New Orleans. Through violence resulting in death, slave leaders overcame officers and crew, freed their fellow slaves, and surrendered themselves and ship in the English port of Nassau, Bahama Islands.

THE ENGLISH court assumed admiralty jurisdiction, imprisoned those slaves found guilty of murder, freed the others. Question: Who paid damages to the ship owners and the owners of the slaves?

England paid $110,330, in 1853, pursuant to findings of an Anglo-American commission. The new president of Brazil would do well to read that case and apply the ruling to a multi-million dollar luxury liner before getting too deeply involved with Captain Galvao.

The case could explain the American Navy's enthusiasm for seeing the Santa Maria, and all but American citizens, arrive elsewhere.

BROWNSVILLE ASKING HELP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hugh Scott R-Pa., says he hopes a bill to aid distressed areas will be enacted no later than April 1.

Scott told a delegation of 12 men from Brownsville, Pa., Tuesday that he will try to substitute his bill for a $389.5 million revolving loan and grant fund provided in a bill sponsored by Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill.

"I doubt that my bill will be accepted as an amendment," said Scott, "and I'll go along with the Douglas Bill."

Scott's bill would provide $214 million in aid to distressed areas.

The Brownsville group came to stress their need for economic aid.

Donald Davis, one of the group, said "We've done all we can to help ourselves in trying to get a new industry. But we need help and we need it now."

Davis estimated unemployment in Brownsville to be between 33 and 35 per cent.

Biglerville Boasts Of Having The Only Known Policewoman In Adams County

Mrs. Jane Sanni, 5-2, 110-pound mother of four, is the first woman and latest officer on the staff of the Biglerville borough police. Her duties include directing traffic at public schools, as shown above.

Motorists driving through Biglerville invariably slow down to a near stop in order to take a peek at the "policeman" directing traffic in front of the public schools on Main Street. In a neatly tailored blue uniform and wearing sun glasses is a petite five foot, two inch, 110-pound policewoman, known to the Biglerville residents as Mrs. Jane Sanni. She is the only policewoman in the county.

Mrs. Sanni is an authorized policewoman hired by the Biglerville Borough Council last September. Born and raised in Hanover, she is no stranger to this part of Pennsylvania. She went to high school in Lititz, Lancaster County, and met her husband, Martin, while he was in the service at Kingston, N. C. He is presently employed in the meat department of Gilbert's Market, Biglerville. They have five children: Billy, 17, who is an outstanding basketball player for Biglerville High School; Jeanette, 15; Mike, 7; Doris Ann, 12, and Tina, 5.

HAS BUSY SCHEDULE

A member of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Mrs. Sanni's usual day consists of directing traffic for the local schools from 8 to 9 a.m.; from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 3 to 4 p.m. In between these hours, she patrols the streets, looking for violators at parking meters or for motor code violators.

The patrolwoman has also participated in two burglary investigations since she assumed her duties. Five youths were arrested as the direct result of her part in the investigation in one of the robberies. Aside from these duties, she said, other complaints are received from individuals which take up a considerable amount of her time.

TROUBLE FROM STUDENTS

School children in the older age bracket seem to give her more than the usual amount of trouble, says, but the best remedy for them is a talk with their parents.

Mrs. Sanni is one of five on the Biglerville borough police staff, headed by Chief Dale Guise. She said the other policemen "work with me 100 per cent" and they think she fulfills the job equally well as any man could do. Mrs. Sanni was engaged by council after several refusals of the position. It seems as though they wanted a woman on the force and she was 100 per cent eligible since she did not work anywhere and all her children were in school.

How did she acquire her law experience? Mrs. Sanni was asked by a Times reporter. "I bought several law books and started studying," she said. She believes, however, that the greater percentage of law is learned through experience.

On the job she thinks men hold much more respect for a woman than a man. She thinks that a man is more liable to mind his language and be more courteous when stopped by a female officer. She tries to be calm and cooperative when she is performing her police duties and thinks everyone else should be the same.

"The attitude of the people in Biglerville seems to be all right toward me. No one is personally against me just because I am a woman. The men at first didn't approve of me but later they changed their minds. The people are wonderful about the job and cooperate very well," she said.

Maintaining a home for five children and a husband keeps Mrs. Sanni busy. She likes to sew and is interested in athletics, especially ice skating.

"I'm very proud to serve the community of Biglerville," she said. "I like this community better than any place I've lived and I have lived in a good many.

"I enjoy my job, I like it very much," she concluded.

TUESDAY NIGHT TV PERKED UP DRAMATICALLY

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—This dull and imitated television season has no date for the pancity and shoddy quality of its dramatic offerings.

But Tuesday night things perked up considerably. There were two special dramatic programs, and each was excellent entertainment.

For this double helping, many thanks to NBC. First there was "Time Remembered," a 90-minute TV adaptation of a Broadway adaptation of a Jean Anouilh play. It's plot in outline surely reads like a tragic psychiatric case history, but it was a lunatic and very funny comedy. (That is not redunadant: I've been watching unfunny comedies for months.)

WHIMSICAL, MACABRE

Then there was an hour-long playlet called "A String of Beads," based loosely on a Somerset Maugham short story, but actually a morality tale dressed in chic Park Avenue clothing. It will probably make young Jane Fonda, in her TV debut, the discovery of the year.

"Time Remembered," was wild, sophisticated, whimsical and based on a thoroughly macabre subject. The plot concerns the efforts of the Duchess of Port au Bronc to shock her son out of his long grief over the unfortunate death of his beloved. The lady, a famous ballerina, had swept Prince Albert off his feet, only to die three days later by accidentally strangling herself while making a particularly dramatic gesture with a scarf.

For two years, the disconsolate prince had withdrawn into his memories of lost love. Our play opened as his mother brought into his life Amanda, a happy, healthy little milliner who bears a great resemblance to the deceased.

ALL ENDED HAPPILY

Unfortunately, she was unable to impersonate the dancer successfully. For instance, she loathed champagne and had no taste for orchids, and as Prince Albert explained, his love had lived exclusively on these delicacies. "She nibbled orchids constantly," implied the duchess, "but only the tender heart. Of course, she discarded the tough outer petals."

But, of course, all ended happily, and the live and lively milliner won the prince in fairy tale fashion. It was a great cast, including Dame Edith Evans, a magnificent duchess, and pert little Janet Munro as the girl. Christopher Plummer handles comedy adroitly although Tuesday night he had a tendency to sound and act like Edward Everett Horton, which is amusing but not quite the right note for a romantic hero.

RATHER SOAPY STORY

"A String of Beads" was merely the story of a secretary who bought a $120 string of cultured pearls in an extravagant gesture and then found that what she had acquired by mistake was a string worth $60,000. The resulting situation—she wanted to keep the jewels—forced her to decide what she really wanted from life. Of course, it wasn't the beads at all, but the poor but young law student.

The rather soapy story was well-acted by Chester Morris and Louisa Horton, who played the girl's employers with problems of their own. But it was Jane Fonda who added the zest to the program. She is vivid, appealing and has a fresh distinctive personality of her very own.

All in all, it was a most pleasant evening. I wish we had them more often.

Recommended tonight: Steel Hour, CBS, 10-11 (EST)—"The Big Splash," a suspense tale with Arlene Francis and Jack Carson.

Churches Squabble For Huge Estate

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Episcopal church has filed a suit here contesting a will by one of its longtime parishioners who bequeathed $260,000 to a Catholic nursing home.

The petition filed Tuesday asserts that Mrs. Sylvia Ann Morgan, an Episcopalian for most of her active 93 years, "was not of sound mind" when she made out a new will after her conversion to Catholicism and shortly before her death last Dec. 30.

She didn't leave the Episcopal church a dime, the petition said.

Says Space Race Is Big Complexity

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — It no longer is possible to determine who is ahead in the U.S.-Soviet space race, says a top U.S. scientist.

Dr. Wernher von Braun said Tuesday night that U.S. space efforts were "so diversified and complex" that it was impossible to make "such a sweeping statement" as to who was leading.

He said the Soviets had been able to make deeper probes into space and had put up bigger rockets and bigger payloads, but that the United States had made "six times as many firsts."

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—George W. King, former football star and coach at Holy Cross College, died Monday at his home after a long illness. King, 80, retired 20 years ago. He became Crusader coach in 1906.

HOPES DIM ON CONGO CRISIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Lack of Soviet-U.S. agreement dimmed prospectstoday for any decisive U.N. Security Council action to ease the crisis in the Congo.

Despite the threat of spreading civil war in the chaotic new African nation, it appeared that the current council debate would wind up in another deadlock.

The council adjourned Tuesday night, with its next meetings to be held either Friday or next Monday. Members will confer privately, seeking some solution.

Hope for effective council action had been stirred by word that the United States was consulting privately with the Soviet Union and other council members in an effort to reach agreement on an over-all U.N. Congo policy.

Adlai E. Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate, said he was hopeful but not at all confident about eventual U.S.-Soviet agreement. He made the statement after a two-hour private meeting Monday night with Valerian A. Zorin, head of the Soviet U.N. delegation.

TRAITOR CALLS SELF "BLOODY FOOL" WHEN NABBED AS SPY

LONDON (AP) — A Scotland Yard detective testified today a trusted British civil servant exclaimed "I have been a bloody fool" when he was caught slipping royal navy secrets to a Soviet agent.

Detective Supt. George Smith told a magistrate that Harry F. Houghton, 55, a clerical officer in the British navy's underwater weapons department, later confessed to his part in the spy ring in an effort to clear his fiancee, because he had "dragged her into this mess."

Houghton was arrested with his fiancee, Miss Ethel Gee, 46, who worked with him at the secret naval research station in Portland, as they kept a rendezvous in the heart of London with Gordon A. Lonsdale, 37.

HAD FORGED PASSPORT

The government charges that Lonsdale was a Soviet agent who carried a forged Canadian passport.

Detective Smith said Houghton told him that he persuaded Miss Gee to let him have a number of secret documents to be copied for Lonsdale, who had introduced himself as "Cmdr. Alexander Johnson," of the U.S. Embassy in London.

Smith testified and he and fellow detectives seized the three on Jan. 7 on a London street after watching Miss Gee hand Lonsdale a shopping basket holding two parcels.

The parcels, Smith said, contained four pamphlets relating underwater weapons tests and a can packed with film of 212 pages from the highly secret royal navy book "Particulars of War Vessels," supposedly accessible only to trusted navy men and civil servants.

OTHERS ARE ACCUSED

Accused with the two navy workers and Lonsdale are Peter Kroger, 50, a bookseller, and his wife, Helen, 47, who lived in suburban Ruislip—not far from the 3rd U.S. Air Force headquarters. The hearing now being held is to determine whether the five shall be tried for espionage.

Attorney General Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller told the magistrate Tuesday the Krogers' modest cottage was equipped with a powerful radio transmitter and receiver which they used to keep in touch with a spymaster in Moscow.

The shortwave radio transmitter was found in a compartment beneath the kitchen floor.

The government said it also found in the cottage:

Tiny documentary films called microdots—documents reduced on film to a dot no bigger than the period on a typewriter.

A powerful microscope suitable for reading microdot messages.

A birthday party was given Phyllis Harbold at her Zinn Street home Saturday afternoon. Classmates who attended were Gail Boyer, Mary Eshelman, Mervin Sloan, Jack Cashman, Charles Hoffman, David Anderman and Sandy Eisenhart.

Mr. and Mrs. "Louis" Jacobs, R. 2, is spending a winter vacation at Miami, Fla.

"Tricky Teens" Club will hold a dance Saturday at the local school beginning at 8 p.m.

The pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church has requested that any interested girl or boy should ask the minister for a registration card in order to apply for camp reservations at Camp Nawakwa. Reservations will be given to the persons registering earliest.

Troop Five and the Senior Scouts have donated a Girl Scout Yellow Rose to the Camp Happy Valley pproject. This rose, along with others, will be planted on the roadside leading to the camp. The Intermediates are also making favors for the Adams County Home in observance of George Washington's Birthday.

A doughnut bake sale was planned at Monday evening's meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the fire company. They will begin making doughnuts Monday evening for sale Tuesday morning. The committee includes Ruth Krout, Lois Eisenhart and Florence Rohrbaugh.

Members have completed painting the kitchen in the fire hall and with the help of the firemen are redecorating the dining room. Roy Chronister, local painter, Joanne Gibbs and Rosella Altland will head that committee. The women are planning to make new drapes as a part of the redecoration project.

Grace Stambaugh, in charge of devotions, also closed the meeting with a reading of Abraham Lincoln. Delores Oakes was accepted as a new member. The card party committee for March is Dorothy Borror and Mary Markley. The kitchen committee for March is Eula Shelleman and Joanne Gibbs.

There was 11 members present.

Expect Civil Suits Will Follow Breakup Of Giant Electric Equipment Skein

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The government breakup of the gitnt conspiracy in the $2-billion-a-year heavy electrical equipment industry, halting illegal price fixing and bid rigging, may be followed by many civil suits.

Customers may seek to recover thousands of dollars, perhaps millions in alleged overpayments. Such action could be in the courts for years. The suing customer must prove he was damaged by price-fixing or bid-rigging. This is not easy, attorneys said.

Industry sources, meantime, said equipment prices remain virtually unchanged.

18-MONTH PROBE

The intensive federal probe that began 18 months ago ended Tuesday as U. S. Dist. Judge J. Cullen Ganey finished sentencing 29 companies and 44 of their top executives.

It was a two-day job in Ganey's courtroom where he imposed total fines of $1,924,500 and 30-day jail terms for seven men.

A 45th individual, too ill to appear, will be sentenced later.

There were 20 indictments in all, brought in by four separate grand juries. The 14 remaining were disposed of Tuesday, after Monday's five-hour session.

FIXED PRICES

All the indictments accused the defendants of fixing prices, maintaining them at high and artificial levels and restraining, suppressing and eliminating competition.

The defendants either pleaded guilty or no defense. The judge said both were an equal admission of the charges.

Company fines, totalling $1,787,000, must be paid within 10 days. Individuals, assessed $137,500, must pay within 20 days.

START SERVING TERMS

The seven jailed will serve their prison terms, starting next Monday, in the Montgomery County Prison at nearby Norristown, Pa.

The industry's two biggest firms —General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp.—bore the brunt of the penalties. Government lawyers said they do over 60 per cent of the total business.

GE was fined $437,500, Westinghouse $382,000. Sixteen GE executives, three of them ordered jailed, were fined $55,000, while 14 Westinghouse officials must pay $27,000, two of them to go to jtil.

The industry supplies most of the equipment for transmission, generation and distribution of electric power to operate television sets and toasters in virtually every American home.

CALLED "SHOCKING"

The transformers, oil circuit breakers, watt hour meters, insulators and other items help operate submarines, battleships, atomic energy plants and dams.

The U. S. economy dependss on this equipment. Judge Ganey, noting this, called the violations "shocking."

William L. Maher, chief of the antitrust division in eastern Pennsylvania who headed the vast probe, said he couldn't say what effect the end of the price-fixing will have upon smaller segments of the industry.

"We found a violation of the law," he said, "and we prosecuted."

The convicted companies did over $8 billion gross sales during the 1955-59 indictment periods.

CHARGES MORE PRIESTS WITH NEW PLOTTING

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's regime kept up its bitter anti-clerical campaign Tuesday night with a charge by Defense Minister Raul Castro that Roman Catholic priests are active in bomb plots against the government.

The prime minister's younger brother told a crowd of several thousand roaring students one priest was caught planting a bomb at a munitions depot and another was arrested trying to join invaders from the Dominican Republic.

It was one of the strongest attacks on the clergy since the Castros came to power, and once more the target was Spanish-born priests, the majority of the clergy in Cuba. The Castro regime claims they act on the orders of Spanish dictator Francisco Franco.

NO IMMEDIATE ACTION

Despite his charges, Raul left the impression the Communist-dominated regime plans no immediate action against the church. He called for patience in the face of "anti-national" activities by the priests and said the regime always will insure religious freedom.

Shortly after the rally, a bomb explosion was heard in suburban Miramar. It was the 10th in the last three nights.

Raul's appearance in Havana was a surprise in view of reports the government has gathered the biggest concentration of armed forces in the nation's history to attack rebel strongholds in south-central Cuba's mountains.

SEALED OFF INSURGENTS

An estimated 60,000 Castro men reportedly have sealed off 1,600 to 4,000 insurgents in the Escambray Mountains of Las Villas Province, 185 miles southeast of Havana. All civilian movement for 50 miles around the mountains has been restricted.

Informed sources said the rebels are the best armed and entrenched opposition the Castros have met since the overthrow of dictator Fulgencio Batista and that a battle, if it comes, could be one of the bloodiest in Cuban history.

Says College Profs Need More Training

PITTSBURGH (AP) — College instructors and social scientists have been criticized at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Association of Township Supervisors.

"These instructors have only theories," Joseph Parisi Jr., executive director of the Michigan Township Association, said Tuesday adding:

"They have no practical knowledge of how government works . . . they should be compelled to serve one or two years in municipal government before entering the classroom to teach their subjects."

Troy Kost, secretary of the Illinois Township Association, said of social and political scientists:

"They believe today that all American municipal governments are full of local yokels and must be replaced by some form of metropolitan government."

The three-day convention winds up today with voting on resolutions and the election of officers.

Radioed Naval Secrets To RedsFromHouseNearLondon

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP)—The British government charged in court Tuesday that a small house in a quiet London suburb housed a high-powered radio station transmitting British naval secrets to Moscow.

Atty. Gen. Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller, opening the prosecution of five persons charged with stealing top submarine secrets from a naval research station, said government agents made tests in the house and heard signals coming from the Moscow headquarters of a spy ring.

The five defendants, who appeared today for a preliminary hearing, are Gordon A. Lonsdale, 37, a company director; Peter J. Kroger, 50, a bookseller; Kroger's wife, Helen, 47; Harry F. Houghton, 55, and Ethel E. Gee, 47.

HAD SECRET JOBS

Houghton and Miss Gee were employes of the top secret naval research station at Portland. Manningham-Buller said Miss Gee, Houghton and Lonsdale were arrested after she handed Lonsdale a parcel containing naval secrets.

The attorney general said subsequently detectives found a radio transmitter buried in rubble under the Krogers' home. He said agents made monitoring tests at the house and heard signals apparently coming from Moscow in accordance with signal plans found in the house and at Lonsdale's home.

Manningham-Buller said the Krogers provided the spy ring with its communications center "and possibly acted as its bankers."

EYED FOR MONTHS

Manningham-Buller said detectives had been keeping an eye on Houghton and Miss Gee for several months before they arrested them and Lonsdale on Jan. 7.

He said a parcel Miss Gee handed to Lonsdale that day contained 310 photographs, including photographic copies of 202 pages from the secret book "Particulars of Warships."

When Mrs. Kroger was arrested later at her home, the attorney general said, an eight-page letter in the Russian language was found in her purse.

Escapes DUI Charge On Police Miscue

DETROIT (AP) — A motorist escaped a drunken driving charge Tuesday because police lacked facilities for giving him a test.

Under a new state law a driver has the right to demand a blood test by police to determine the extent of alcohol in his system. The evidence is admissible in court.

Sylvanus Snyder 47, demanded. But the police don't yet have testing facilities.

3 Reserve Banks Ration Pennies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Reserve banks in New York, Boston and Philadelphia are rationing shipments of pennies to commercial banks in their areas.

Bureau of the Mint figures, however, show that the amount of coins on hand at the Treasury and at reserve banks has increased from $53.4 million to $90.2 million since Jan. 1.

Mint officials say they expect no serious shortage nationally.
